June 4 Last Day For Wicks Tickets

Reservations for the dinner in honor of Senator Arthur H. Wicks to be held on June 7 at the Concord Hotel, Kiamasha Lake, Sullivan county, should be made as soon as possible. The public is invited. Ticket reservations may be made through the office of Conrad J. Heiselman, 41 Pearl street.

An alphabetical seating list must be printed for use in sitting the guests in the dining room and this must be in the hands of the printer not later than June 4. Those wishing to attend the dinner are urged to make reservations before that date.

The dinner is being sponsored by the Sullivan County Hotel Men's Association. Guests will be present from all parts of the state. Many reservations have come in from Ulster county residents of all political parties and from all walks of life. The dining room at the Concord accommodates 1,800 and there are plenty of tickets left for those who wish to attend.

Knights Oppose Shift to Alaska Of Mentally Ill

A resolution, sponsored by Kingston Council 275, Knights of Columbus, opposing transfer of New York state's mentally ill to Alaska, was adopted by the New York State Council at its 61st annual meeting held in Buffalo May 24-26.

The resolution opposing "Alaska Mental Health Act" was passed by Kingston Council on April 16.

Provisions of the bill, combined with bills enacted in various legislatures, including laws enacted by the State of New York, give administrative officers the power to transport mentally ill patients from the various states, including New York, to far off Alaska on the basis of a wholesale arrangement to lessen the cost of caring for them.

Grand Knight Howard L. Fox, Past Grand Knight Richard T. Fay; Past Grand Knights Frank Reis attended the Buffalo convention at which Mr. Fay was elected supreme delegate to the Supreme Convention which will be held in Detroit this summer.

The Alaska Mental Health Act was passed by the House of Representatives on Jan. 18 by a voice vote. Mr. Fox said, and it was recently reported out of the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. It is to be filed in the Senate shortly.

Frank D. J. Flanagan, of Flushing, L. I., was reelected state deputy at the Buffalo convention. Other officers reelected were J. William Leary, of Massena, state secretary; Philip J. Burns of New York city, state treasurer; Thomas M. Russell of New York city, state advocate; Louis G. Culhane of the Bronx, state warden; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward P. Hoar, V. G., of Brooklyn was reappointed state chaplain; Edward G. Giery of Flushing, secretary to the state deputy and Joseph F. Rooney of Little Neck, L. I., was reappointed warden to the state deputy.

Walkout Off

New York, May 28 (AP)—The Transport Workers Union today called off a planned protest walkout on the bus lines of the Third Avenue Transit Corp. Union leaders cancelled a rally of the employees just about an hour before it was scheduled to take place at 11 a. m. It had been set to oppose proposed sale of the bankrupt company to another privately-owned system, the New York Omnibus Corp. The Third Avenue operates routes in Manhattan, the Bronx and parts of Westchester county.

19 Injured

Bielefeld, Germany, May 28 (AP)—Police reported 19 persons were injured today by a head-on crash of a Muenster-Paderborn passenger train into a derailed locomotive blocking the tracks at Bielefeld's central station.

Say Instruments Show Blast

Jap Scientists Claim 2nd H-Bomb Is Set Off

Tokyo, May 28 (AP)—Japanese scientists announced their instruments indicated the United States set off another hydrogen blast at Bikini today comparable in power to the mighty May 21 H-bomb explosion.

The atomic energy commission in Washington had no immediate comment.

THE TOKYO central meteorological observatory said its 15 gauges throughout Japan recorded atmospheric pressure waves from the direction of Bikini for about 40 minutes. The observatory said the duration and strength of the waves were the same as those recorded after the May 21 blast, which exploded with an estimated force of more than 10 million tons of TNT.

A "super-sensitive" seismograph at Matsushiro, 130 miles northwest of Tokyo, recorded earth shock nearly three hours ahead of the air gauge readings, the scientists reported. The seismograph also recorded the May 21 blast before the atmospheric instruments.

Earth shocks travel much faster than atmospheric pressure waves.

A B52 jet stratofortress dropped the hydrogen bomb which exploded May 21 over Namu Island in the U. S. thermionuclear proving ground at Bikini Atoll. A fiery cloud three miles wide boiled up 25 miles into the sky.

NONE of the 15 newsmen who saw the May 21 bomb drop at Bikini was there today. Their stay in the proving ground was limited to 30 days. Weather conditions forced repeated postponements of the H-bomb drop and thus delayed later tests of the current series beyond the time limit granted the correspondents.

The AEC has said the current tests will run into June.

After the May 21 explosion, the task force said its power yield "likely will be one of the biggest of the current series." It said the energy yield was substantially less than the 1954 test of a thermionuclear device built on another of Bikini's islands. That island disappeared in the violence of the blast.

THE TOKYO observatory said the Matsushiro seismograph recorded the earth shocks at 3:02 a. m. (1:02 p. m. EST Sunday). The air gauges recorded the atmospheric pressure waves at 6:33 a. m. in Yokohama and 6:14 a. m. in Tokyo.

The seismograph recorded the May 21 explosion 12 minutes after the blast was set off at Bikini and the air pressure gauges reacted about three hours later.

Kerness Hotel Is Burned to Ground Near Ellenville

The Kerness Hotel between Ellenville and Greenfield Park burned to the ground early Sunday afternoon in a fire believed to have started in an electric heater in one of the first-floor bedrooms.

The 2½-story boarding house, containing about 25 or 30 rooms, kitchen and dining room, was unoccupied at the time.

Another fire in the Ellenville area about 2:50 p. m. Sunday destroyed the Westwood Hills Video Corp. booster shack on a hilltop west of the village near the Ellenville Music Festival.

Cpl. N. G. Lecakes of the Ellenville state police said the shack, containing equipment used to boost the television signal for the village, was burned to the ground. The shack, about 10 feet square, was of wood and tarpaper. About $2,500 worth of electrical equipment was destroyed.

Chief Floyd Van Gorder of the Ellenville Fire Department said the Kerness Hotel, located on a crossroad between Route 52 and the Oak Ridge road, was being prepared to open in the near future.

The fire, reported about 1:30 p. m., had gotten so much headway that the chief said he "could see no use wasting water on the main building." Firemen wet down an adjoining building which was saved.

A pond at the site was dry, Chief Van Gorder said. The truck carried only a limited quantity of water. He said the hotel "went up pretty fast."

Two Divisions in Memorial Parade

Lt. Cmdr. Norman Bohan Will Speak at Port Ewen

Two divisions, including two drum corps and a color guard from the U. S. S. Joyce, will parade Memorial Day in Port Ewen at 10 a. m.

Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth will be grand marshal and the Memorial Day address will be delivered by Lt. Cmdr. Norman Bohan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bohan of the River road, Ulster Park and commanding officer of the U. S. S. Joyce.

The parade will form at the intersection of Sunset Drive and Route 9W at 9:30 a. m. and march south on Route 9W to Riverview Cemetery where services will be held. The parade will return in the same formation, north on Route 9W to Legion Court where it will disband.

The grand marshal, guests and officials will review the parade during the counter-march at the Port Ewen Fire Station.

The first division will include a state police escort, grand marshal, members of the clergy, town officials and guests, Rifton 4-H Drum Corps, Esopus School No. 3, Port Ewen School District No. 1, Town of Esopus Little League, Port Ewen Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts Troop 82 of Esopus, Boy Scouts Troop 26 of Port Ewen, Ne Top Pew Group of the Campfire Girls and float, Blubird Group of the Campfire Girls and float.

The second division will be comprised of the U. S. S. Joyce color guard, Town of Esopus Lions Club, Port Ewen Drum Corps, Port Ewen Fire Department, St. Remy Fire Department, Town of Esopus American Legion Post 1298 color guard, firing squad, ladies auxiliary and float.

The Rev. Harry Christiana will deliver the invocation at the cemetery services. The remainder of the program includes a recitation by Fred Roos, songs by the Campfire Girls, Lt. Cmdr. Bohan's address, a Memorial Day prayer by the Rev. Joseph Kerins, C.S.R., a salute to the dead by the American Legion firing squad. Taps will be played by Daniel Schrader of the Port Ewen Drum Corps and the Benediction will be delivered by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport of Kingston.

Patriotism, Sea Defense Urged at Creek Services

Rededication to our patriotic ideals and defense of territorial waters were stressed at the annual memorial services conducted by the Kingston Veterans Association Sunday afternoon on the Rondout creek.

Despite inclement weather, a large gathering honored the war dead in the annual observance held at the Kingston-Rhinecliff ferry shed.

Guest speakers included Mayor Frederick H. Stang, Attorney Charles Gaffney and the Rev. S. B. Chappell, pastor of St. Mark's AME Church.

Attorney Gaffney congratulated the gathering for its pa-

Recess Called in Trial

Van Steenberg Takes Stand in Own Defense

Poughkeepsie, May 28 (AP)—Wells Van Steenberg was unexpectedly called as a witness in his own defense today at his trial for the slaying of Mrs. Lloyd H. Beresford of Staatsburg.

Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz called a recess shortly after the 21-year-old defendant started answering questions about his relations with the woman and her husband, a well known dog show judge.

ordered a conference with attorneys for both sides before continuing.

Van Steenberg was the fourth witness called as the defense began. Before his answers were cut off, he described how he met Mrs. Beresford, after her husband had given him a lift in his car, and how he accompanied the dog fancier to a Reading, Pa., show several months later.

TWO STAATSBURG neighbors, Mrs. Florence Harris, and her father, Frederick C. Niel, testified concerning events on the night of Oct. 28 when Mrs. Beresford burned to death at her home.

The witness said they had driven by about midnight without noting anything suspicious except a car parked near the Beresford residence.

Both said they had heard no motorcycle arrive or depart. Van Steenberg allegedly used a motorcycle on the night of Oct. 28.

ANOTHER witness, Mrs. Marjorie Rawlings, said that she had been an intermediary for a letter from the youth to Mrs. Beresford in which he asked for money because of an automobile accident.

The defendant is charged with having doused the woman with gasoline and setting her afire when she surprised him robbing the house.

Prendergast Says GOP Defeats Cause

Flood Relief, Eisenhower Policy Is Criticized Here

Democratic State Chairman Michael H. Prendergast said in an address here Saturday afternoon that Republican handling of state flood control legislation shows GOP "callousness toward the needs of the people."

"Republicans have defeated their own cause by partisan irresponsible, do-nothing policies that have brought one of the blackest records of the Republican party in the history of the state legislature," he told 150 persons attending the "Day of Political Education" program at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The day-long program was sponsored by the Ulster County Democratic Committee.

Prendergast also attacked the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy. He said it has been characterized by "muddled thinking," "blind complacency" and "dangerous shortsightedness."

He told the group, made up largely of women, that the Republican-controlled state legislature subjected Gov. Averell Harriman's flood control proposals to "mishandling" in the last session.

"They killed our Democratic flood relief bill in committee," he said, "and then introduced by the same bill—word for word—under their own sponsorship, with the exception . . . of a reduction of $500,000 in Gov. Harriman's recommended appropriation."

"The Republicans turned blind eyes and deaf ears to the rest of the Democratic flood relief legislation, failing to do anything about the small watershed

Debate Started On Highway Bill

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Democrats stole a march on Republicans in political maneuvering over the highway bill as the Senate opened debate today on the mammoth roadbuilding program.

Sen. Chavez (D-NM) jumped in at the outset with an amendment to put back in the bill a provision strongly favored by labor to let the federal government fix minimum wage rates on a major segment of the proposed road system.

Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif.) had been waiting with the identical proposal, but Chavez got the floor first.

Republicans had thought the amendment might be somewhat embarrassing to Democrats, since many southerners oppose it. Southern Senators contend it would drive up wage rates for farm workers as the highways push out through rural areas.

The Chavez amendment would apply to interstate road projects the 1931 Davis-Bacon Act under which the Secretary of Labor can fix wage minimums on federal construction projects.

He must apply those prevailing in the area concerned, but Senators opposing the amendment contend that he usually

Key Primary in Florida Tuesday

Tempers Flare as Two Democrats Near Finish

(By The Associated Press)

Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver today wound up their primary election campaigns in Florida—their only southern primary test—while others assessed a Democratic primary in North Carolina which unseated two congressmen who did not sign an anti-integration manifesto.

Florida Democrats vote tomorrow in a key test of the popularity of Kefauver and Stevenson, both seeking that state's 28 votes in the Democratic national convention.

THE TWO presidential hopefuls began the final week's campaign with a joint appearance resulting in no fireworks, but as the week wore on tempers flared. Kefauver blasted Stevenson yesterday for alleged use of a "smear and smile" technique. Stevenson's manager said Kefauver showed signs of "desperation."

Stevenson arranged to fly to California this morning to begin stumping ahead of that state's June 5 primary, in which he also opposes the Tennessee senator.

Kefauver planned a final 17-hour marathon tour of the key Miami area.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower has only taken opposition on the GOP side of the contest.

In Saturday's North Carolina Democratic primary, defeat came to Reps. Deane and Chatham—non-signers of a document attacking the Supreme Court's decisions on segregation. More than 100 southern Congress members signed it.

A third non-signer, Rep. Cooley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, won re-nomination. Cooley however told the voters he strongly opposed mixing the races.

IN ANOTHER Congressional race in which segregation was not an issue, Rep. Carlyle was

Legislative Committee Makes Report Public Denials Made of Communist Program For Children; Fund-Raising Checked

Two Ulster county camps and others in Greene, Orange, Sullivan and Dutchess counties were named in a report today dealing with "alleged Communist influences in summer camps."

An Associated Press report from Albany said some summer camps in New York state have been used in "a determined program to recruit children into Communist conspiracy," a legislative committee has reported, and those in the four counties, along with another in the state were listed.

THE REPORT noted that allegations of Communist influence at Camp Wyandot, near Mt. Tremper, in Ulster county, and at Camp Kinderland, near Hopeville Junction, Dutchess county, had led to the legislative probe. The new report did not include the above two.

Operators of both had denied having Communist connections. The same committee is also investigating reports of abuses in fund-raising.

THE JOINT legislative committee's report said that its investigation had shown that: The International Workers Order, a defunct, Communist-dominated group, had been active in organizing, financing and supplying management for summer camps in New York state. IWO members, it said, had showed up as owners and operators of Camp Woodland, Phoenicia; Brieh's Farm, Wallkill; Camp Timberline, Jewett, Greene county; Pine Lake Lodge, Kenosha Lake, Sullivan county; Arrow Farms, Monroe, Orange county; Wingdale Lodge, Wingdale, Dutchess county; and Crystal Lake Lodge, Chestertown, Warren county.

At Kenosha Lake, Mrs. Manya Hamburger, a spokesman for Pine Lake Lodge, said that any suggestion that there was Communist teaching at the lodge "is a lie."

"THEY INVESTIGATED last year and admitted they found no trace of it," she added. "We do not operate a school. We do not have lecture. We are in business running a hotel."

She said further that the committee has "absolutely no right" to classify the lodge as a summer camp, since it is "not a camp but a hotel," and does not take in children except those with their parents.

At Arrow Farms, near Monroe, it also was said that the establishment was not a summer camp for children, but a vacation spot for "older people."

"THE ONLY children are those who come with their parents," a man who answered the telephone at the resort said. He declined to give his name.

He added the "camp has nothing to do with the IWO" and carries on "no Communist program." He said "they investigated a long time ago and didn't find anything."

At Brieh's farm, near Wallkill, Fred Friel, owner, said: "I pay no attention to reports of that type. You should take everything they say with a grain of salt. That's all I've got to say."

AT PHOENICIA, a telephone operator said the telephone at Camp Woodland "has been disconnected and the camp apparently is no longer operated."

At Wingdale, Mrs. Sophia Saroff, secretary of a resort called "Wingdale-on-the-Lake" said the old Wingdale Lodge had been closed, and the present vacation camp was under new management of Robert Steck.

NEITHER THE former Wingdale Lodge nor the present Wingdale-on-the-Lake accommodated children, she said. "It is an adult camp and has nothing to do with the statements made by the committee," she added.

At Chestertown, the operator of Crystal Lake Lodge, Albert Slutsky, said his camp was privately owned and "never had any connection with any such organization (as the IWO)."

Of the committee's allegation of Communist connections, Slutsky said "it isn't true at all. They haven't been fair to us at all."

Officials at Camp Timberline at Jewett were unavailable for comment.

THE COMMITTEE, dealing with charitable and philanthropic agencies, said in its report (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Lunch Window Broken by Brick

Police were asked early today to investigate the tossing of a brick, which crashed through a five by six-foot window of Frank's Lunch, 11 Broadway, which opened for the first time today.

Two men were questioned after a report at 5:45 a. m. that the brick had been thrown, but police obtained no definite information on the incident. The window is valued at $60, the report said. Frank Dougherty is the proprietor of the restaurant.

Officers Charles McCullough and Benjamin Osterhoudt investigated and Detective Clarence Brophy was due to make further inquiries.

EXCELSIORS RECEIVE NEW PUMPER—A modern American La France pumper was received by Excelsior Hose Co., No. 4, Saturday during a ceremony that followed a parade by the volunteer firemen and city officials. Temper Flare

Chatham a warning to the Democratic party not to "insult the south's convictions."

Coleman said the votes showed the south "has no intention of submitting to an unconstitutional Supreme Court decision."

HE CONTINUED: "If efforts are made at the national convention to insult the convictions of the south in this regard, it will probably result in the worst defeat ever suffered by the Democratic party and could be the end of the party."

In another weekend development, veteran Sen. Alexander Wiley was refused endorsement for re-election by the Wisconsin Republican state convention.

Wiley, a staunch supporter of Eisenhower's foreign policy, has been at odds with state GOP leaders for years. He said the lack of endorsement won't prevent his seeking another term.

THE CONVENTION move means that its new choice, Rep. Glenn Davis, will have organizational support and financing in the September primary. It does not close out other candidates.

Wiley, the No. 2 Republican senator in seniority and ranking GOP member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, also is a foe of the proposed Bricker Amendment to limit treaty making powers. Many Wisconsin Republicans oppose this and other stands by Wiley.

In Washington yesterday, Secretary of State Dulles said he would welcome "a pretty thorough airing of foreign policy" in the 1956 political campaign.

But he said in a filmed television interview he hopes the discussion will remain on a high level—"not just throwing dead cats around." He called it a "healthy thing that every four years foreign policy should be discussed."

More than 40,000 persons throughout the world die each year from snake bites.

Flood Relief

of the Harriman administration this figure was increased by more than $735,200, or 27.25 per cent.

"And the projected figures for this school year, 1956-57 will bring $3,433,367 in state aid to education to Ulster county for an increase of 36.8 per cent over the last Republican administration."

Prendergast told the gathering that the choice of the Democratic convention will be the next President of the United States. "We are going to win, and I am just as confident that this great state of ours will be in the Democratic column when the votes are counted on Election Day."

He said the Democratic party in Ulster county had already evidenced the good results of grassroots work, electing three additional Democrats to the Board of Supervisors, giving the party 12 votes voting down over some important phases of local legislation. He also called attention to the fact that Ellenville had elected a Democratic mayor and two Democratic trustees in the last election to take a 5-0 control of the village board.

"I have every confidence that Ellenville's mayor will again demonstrate his own getting power in his race for Assembly this year—a fine spokesman of our party—Mayor Eugene Glusker."

"And it is equally important that you all band together to build the necessary majority for your outstanding candidate for the State Senate, whom I had the pleasure of meeting at the Sullivan county dinner earlier this week—Greene county's Bill Byrne."

Miss Mary Louise Nice, vice-chairman of the Democratic State Committee, speaking on the women's point of view in the coming elections, said the "eyes of the world" would be on New York state. The winning candidate must swing the New York state vote, she said.

IF the election is close-fought it may be that the "few hundred" extra votes in Ulster county, brought to the presidential election, she said.

Miss Nice said she hoped Gov. Harriman would be the Democratic candidate, that the party could point to his accomplishments with pride. She cited his recognition of the importance of women, his stand on education, his program for the aged, his interest in the small businessman, etc.

She debunked the "myth" that President Eisenhower was an invincible candidate, saying he was not a "sure cinch." Apathy alone can down the Democrats this year, she told the group.

Thomas J. Plunket, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee, brought greetings and said it was a great pleasure to do so because it gave recognition to the hard work of Ulster county women who initiated the Day of Political Education three years ago.

HE said the party had been faced with "insurmountable odds" in electing candidates but now saw clearly that the odds were not so insurmountable as they were believed to be. He cited election of four additional supervisors in the county and eight in the city, bringing the Democratic total to 12 out of 33. The city elected six of 13 aldermen, he said, and holds a "fighting minority" in the Board of Supervisors.

He said the party had made these gains despite a fighting Republican organization solidly behind its leader—a leader who will not run again. The fact that he will not run again causes him to "lose stature," Plunket stated. There is no one "quite so dead" as a politician who "drops out of the race."

Mrs. Harriet Allen Kerr, state committeewoman, and Mrs. Marie Green, of the Democratic Star, a new Democratic newspaper, spoke briefly.

Mrs. Irma Coty, chairman of the Day of Political Education, presided at the luncheon program. Candidates for office were introduced by Mrs. Marie Bush; Arthur H. Withall, candidate for sheriff; Mr. Plunket, for surrogate; Mr. Glusker, State Assembly; William B. Byrne, Jr., State Senate, and Vincent J. Gennaro, Congressman, 29th Congressional District.

Mrs. Lillian Courter was accompanist in the singing of the national anthem. The Rev. James Keating of St. Joseph's RC Church pronounced the invocation.

THE FOLLOWING were in charge of program details: Mrs. Coty, exhibits; Mrs. Lorraine Haver, literature; Mrs. Margaret Glancy, registration; Mrs. Catherine Carlson and Judge William A. Kelly, clerk of the Ulster County Board of Elections; election information workshop.

At the morning session, Attorney William A. Kelly, clerk of the Ulster County Board of Elections, told guests of recent changes in the law concerning absentee ballots.

He explained it is now possible for the permanently disabled to obtain absentee ballots. The county board is working on the implementation of the new amendments to the election law which will make it possible for hospitalized persons to cast their ballots in the fall, he said.

The board will be glad to help those who have questions about procedure, Mr. Kelly said.

Financial and Commercial

New York, May 28 (AP)—The stock market declined today after early support faded away.

In the early afternoon, prices were off 1 to 4 points while fractional gains were scarcely noticeable.

The decline wasn't urgent, but prices eroded constantly once the decline got started.

port made public yesterday, that there was a "real danger" that parents might be misled by advertising into sending children to Red-operated camps.

"Although only a minor proportion of all our children... have been or are in danger of being subjected to... disturbing subversive influences, the committee has been ever mindful of the fact that each and every individual child is a matter of vital concern," the report added.

The committee last year conducted an extensive investigation of alleged Communist influences in summer camps. It said that the report of that investigation was being published now to "alert" parents who are selecting summer camps for their children.

THERE HAD BEEN "a long-continued Communist conspiracy, planned and directed by the higher echelons of the party, to use the summer camps in the Communist program."

Those uses included indoctrination of children and the training of "new generations for Communist leadership."

The camps also served as centers and rallying points for Communist activities.

THE COMMITTEE cited testimony given at its hearings last summer. It said Communist-operated camps advertised in metropolitan New York and foreign language newspapers and in student and parent-teacher assn. publications.

One committee finding: "... There is a real danger that even anti-Communists may be misled by advertisements in non-Communist publications into sending their children to such Communist camps."

Two committee-drawn laws have been enacted this year. One prohibits listing of names of Red-operated camps in state publications, such as the directory compiled by the Commerce Department. The other requires summer camps to keep guest registers.

The committee announced it was considering legislation that would require camps that offered "political or ideological" courses to say so in the advertising.

Driver Arrested After One of Two Sunday Mishaps

A driver was arrested after one of two city traffic mishaps Sunday, and a car was reported damaged early today when it left the road and went over a bank on North street.

Bergen Darty, 64, of Box 255, East Kingston, was arrested by officers Raymond Wells and Benjamin Osterhoudt on a charge of driving without a license after a mishap on North street at 1 p. m. Sunday.

The officers reported that the car of Harry E. Lang, 29, of 90 Ravine street, was headed south on North street when it was struck in the rear by the Darty car after it had stopped for a traffic light. Darty was fined $10 when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

A traffic light pole was reported hit and damaged at 12:45 p. m., Sunday at Broadway and St. James street.

Officers Julius Glassman and Albert Hutton reported that the car of Arthur Vernoy, of 5 Vincent street, driven by Gary Vernoy, 16, of the same address, was making a right turn off Broadway into East St. James street, when it struck the pole knocking the light

SYMBOL OF SELF DEFENSE

When the United States dropped the first hydrogen bomb ever loosed from an American aircraft, it was, in the minds of some cautious U. S. officials, not a demonstration of superior might but a catching up with the Soviet Union.

These men, in other words, are inclined to accept Russia's claim that it has long since unleashed an H-bomb from a plane.

Our own previous massive hydrogen burst was a "device" rather than a deliverable bomb. In the intervening time, the Soviet Union admittedly has made substantial strides in nuclear experiment, to the point where we can no longer safely assume that it does not have a usable weapon with a hydrogen warhead.

To say this does not say we have lost our overall nuclear advantage over Russia, built up over the years by stockpiling atomic bombs and devising a wide variety of atomic weapons. But it does suggest that our margin may be diminishing in some ways.

If the cautious ones are right, then our touching off a delivered H-bomb could have helped to redress the balance in one of these questionable fields.

But whether we are just pulling even or are ahead in this category, it should be clear to America, and the world that what happened at Bikini recently was an event of the utmost significance.

So long as we can hold an edge or keep the Russians in virtual stalemate, the prospects of nuclear warfare seem remote. It would be mutual destruction on such a scale that the spoils would have to be collected in ashcans.

By the same token, maintaining an effective margin will prevent Russia from using its military might as a weapon in the closet, to force peaceful capitulation of weak or timid nations on the fringes of its power sphere.

Reading the details of the Bikini drop, one cannot doubt that what we are preparing for is indeed a kind of conflict which must never be allowed to happen.

HOW TO BEAT CANCER

News of cancer isn't all bad. The American Cancer Society reports that 400,000 persons now alive in the United States have been cured of this fearsome disease.

But the real cures, officials of the society keep saying, can come only when the disease is discovered early. In fact, it is estimated that 800,000 persons who may die of cancer in the next 10 years can be saved if their trouble is found early and treated immediately.

It's natural for people who feel good to be thankful and stay away from doctors, and for people aware of some slight physical irregularity to assume casually that it will go away soon. Yet it has been proven many times that cancer can exist before it makes itself conspicuous, and by the time it is conspicuous, it may be too late.

Frequent check-ups are the only sure prevention. If the doctor finds nothing wrong, that good news is well worth the fee.

GRASS AND BRUSHLAND FIRES

The principal causes of fire each spring are careless smokers and the burning of refuse. In the wooded sections of the county acres of trees are destroyed and in the city limits property damage runs high.

The person who carelessly flips a lighted cigarette or who lights a brush fire or a little pile of papers and neglects to stamp it out completely threatens the lives and homes of his neighbors. Utmost care at this time of year should be taken by everyone.

CLARE LUCE

It is not pleasant to learn that our Ambassador to Rome, Clare Luce, has worn herself out fighting against the slow, infiltrative conquest of Italy by the Communists. When one realizes how inadequately the United States is represented in many important countries, it has been fascinating to watch this frail woman doing a man's job and doing it to perfection.

When Clare Luce first came to Italy, the Communists conducted a violent and smearing propaganda against her, first because she is a woman. How dare the United States send a female Ambassador to Italy! That objection did not stand the test of time. Then a series of funny stories were circulated about her with the intent of making her appear ridiculous. Fortunately, many of these stories were associated with Mr. Luce's Catholicism and were not so funny to those who heard them. She survived them all.

Clare Luce is one of America's most remarkable women who has succeeded in many fields through sheer ability and a tremendous capacity for work. She has been an actress, a writer, an editor, a playwright, a member of the House of Representatives, a housewife, a mother and an Ambassador. And she has been able to do whatever was demanded of her with aplomb and wit. It would be a great loss if her illness were to lessen her opportunity for public service.

In the struggle against Communism, Clare Luce, as far back as I can remember, at least a quarter of a century ago, grasped the essential fact that the strength of the Marxist movement lies in its pseudo-religious character and organization. It is sometimes suggested by anti-Romanists that it is a remarkable circumstance that Marxism thrives so well in what we are accustomed to regard as Catholic countries, France, Italy, Poland, etc. The answer is that when those who accept dialectical materialism rebel against God, they still desire the disciplines to which they are accustomed. The reason that Marxism succeeded in Soviet Russia rather than in Great Britain is that the autocratic character of Czarism suited the people who did not want freedom but order. Human beings, no matter what ideas they choose to pursue, hope to live as they have been accustomed to live. That is why in Great Britain, when the Socialists are in control of government, they support the Royal family as the Conservatives do, and a former Socialist Prime Minister is willing to be an Earl and to sit in the House of Lords.

Italian Communism, therefore, must be acknowledged as being anti-God but still seeking a morale which comes from association in a religiously disciplined society. Such anomalies and paradoxes are within the nature of a society which is undergoing violent changes, as all societies of man are these days. In both Italy and France there are men who believe that they can be Roman Catholics and Marxists at the same time, which means that they believe in God and are atheists at the same time, just as in the United States there are some who hold that they can believe in human liberty and Marxism at the same time, which is like saying that they believe in freedom and totalitarianism at the same time. And many are quite sincere in their eclecticism, although upon analysis it proves them illogical if not altogether nonsensical.

Clare Luce is capable of understanding these confusions because she has educated herself in the broadest sense in the humanities which is more than can be said for many professors in universities who have become so specialized that the pinky on the right hand does not know of the pinky on the left hand, if any. The narrowness which comes from specialization results in a loss of intelligent leadership which is more sorely needed here than engineers and scientists about which we hear so much.

If Clare Luce cannot continue her work in Italy, there is plenty that she can do in America, and the fact that she is a woman will not make any difference. She has a witty tongue, which, if not inhibited by cautious advisers, makes folks sorry that they tested their little masculine minds against her colossal feminine mind. When the good Lord handed out brains, He did not inquire as to the gender of the recipient.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

IRON-DEFICIENCY ANEMIA IN INFANTS

Hypochromic anemia (lack of blood cells) is the most common nutritional deficiency in children in the United States and occurs most frequently during the latter half of the first year after birth. According to Dr. Robert L. Jackson in an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association, prevention rather than treatment of this type of anemia should be our goal. The iron available at birth depends on the adequacy of the mother's diet, the length of the pregnancy, and the placental (from the mother) blood allowed to reach the infant.

Iron is stored in the liver of the unborn child during the last six weeks of normal pregnancy. The amount stored is influenced considerably by the nutritional status of the mother, that is, whether or not she is consuming a sufficient amount of the right types of foodstuffs. We can thus see that infants born prematurely are denied this important period of iron storage and have a greater need for growth. It has been estimated that about 110 ml. of blood will enter the term infant's body (one that is not premature) if the umbilical cord, which carries nourishment from the mother, is not clamped until the pulsations from it have ceased. This amount of blood will make available approximately 45 mg. more iron for storage. This may seem insignificant but it is about the same amount of iron in the diet of many infants during the first six months of life.

Four to six months after birth, the hemoglobin (iron) value of the infant's blood reflects its diet and the amount of infection present. Hypochromic anemia occurs most commonly in infants receiving excessive amounts of milk and insufficient amounts of solid foods. An infant receiving only the slight amount of iron found in milk generally has a slow decrease in hemoglobin level during the latter half of the first year. If his original iron store is poor, an iron-deficiency anemia will appear in late infancy. It is wise to begin the addition of iron-containing foods at about three months after birth.

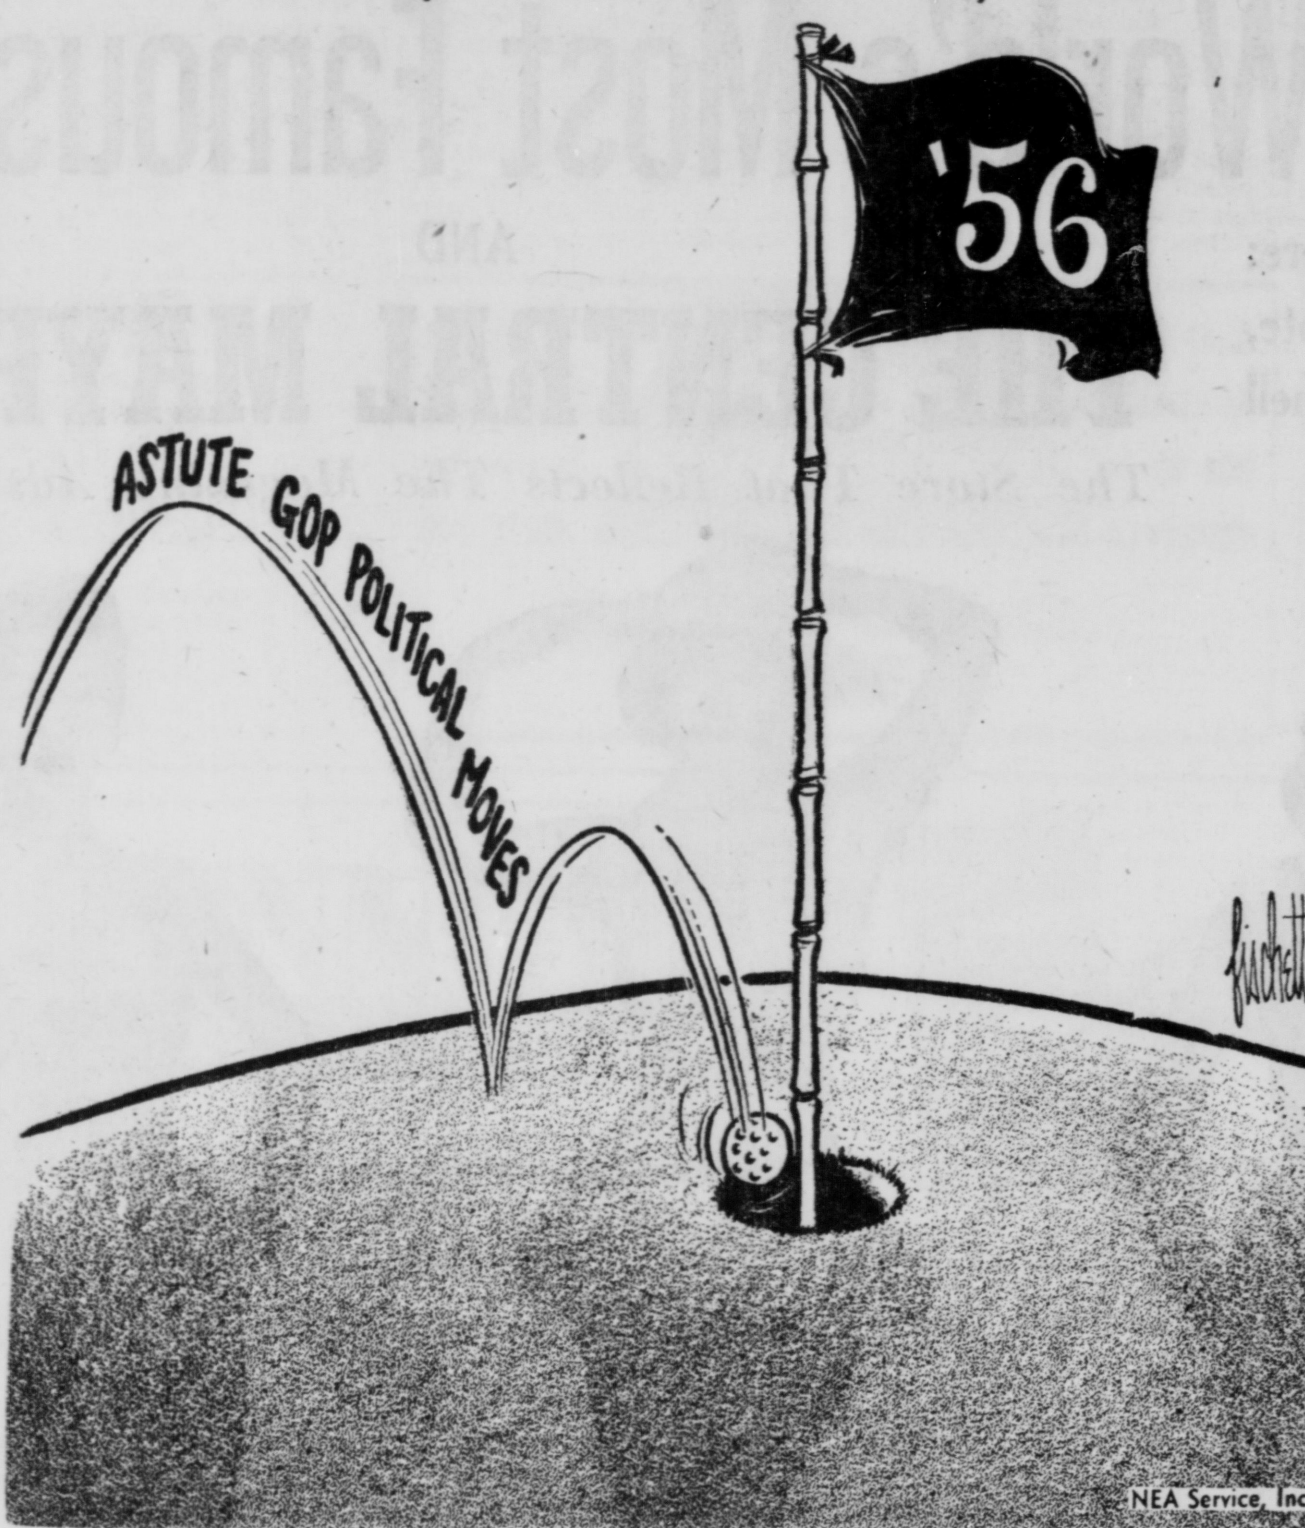

The requirement of iron is about 5 mg. daily. The common iron-containing foods fed to young infants, egg yolk and green vegetables, provide 1 to 2 mg. daily at most. The strained meats provide 15 to 17 mg. to the ounce. Many of the special infant cereals have iron added in amounts providing 2.5 to 4 mg. to the serving of 1/3 ounce. The infant who goes full term and born of a healthy well-fed mother will maintain a good hemoglobin level for at least six months if it is free from infection. If he receives some iron-containing foods daily after the fourth month, probably no other iron supplements are necessary. In the premature infant, iron given before the third or fourth month after birth did not help, but after the third or fourth month iron is essential to prevent iron-deficiency anemia.

Somebody Isn't an Amateur Any More

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA) — President Sukarno of Indonesia says the world is suffering from "technological indigestion."

"I sometimes feel that man has reached for the stars and smeared his hand with primeval mud," he declared in his speech before Washington's National Press Club.

"We have penicillin—and the wonders of bacteriological warfare. We have rocket-powered bombing aircraft—and ox-drawn plows. We have atom bombs—and half the world lit by flickering oil lamps. We have television—and soap opera."

Indonesia's father of his 11-year-old country may have been talking primarily about the Asian countries now struggling to make good their new-found freedom and proud nationalism. They are "in a hurry," as Sukarno says, to catch up with the western world after 250 years of colonialism. But they want the best that western culture has to offer, without the worst.

WHILE THE CONTRAST between the two is more obvious in the underdeveloped areas of the world, it is not unapparent in the United States. The situation is pointed up by the recent dedication of the 100-million-dollar General Motors Technical Center near Detroit.

Seven years have gone into developing this 25-building research center on a 33-acre site. It will employ 4,000 engineers, scientists and stylists. They will produce the last word in technological perfection—for machines.

But on the day before the center was dedicated, GM President

Harlow H. Curtice reduced his estimate of the number of automobiles to be produced this year from 6,500,000 to 5,800,000.

This was not immediately translated into a cut in employment figures for the balance of the year. President Curtice said GM employment "is now within 50,000 of the total of a year ago, when the industry was near an all-time peak."

GOVERNMENT SOURCES now put unemployment in the auto industry at just under 150,000—which is a lot of people out of work, any way you look at it. United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther has asked employers to join in a labor-management conference to find a solution for this situation.

These seemingly unrelated facts are being put together in Washington to indicate that while one branch of an important industry is spending 100 million dollars on mechanical research, it still has a considerable problem on its hands in human research.

This is said without attempting to belittle GM or any other company's labor policies. GM pioneered in the cost-of-living escalator clause and in the annual productivity wage increase.

Labor leaders may claim these reforms were put in only after considerable nudging by their negotiators. This would be particularly true of the new supplementary unemployment benefit payments put in last year's contracts. They cushion, but do not remove the cause of temporary layoffs.

IT IS TO FIND the causes of unemployment and correct them that further human engineering research is said to be needed, on the same scale as technical research.

U. S. Department of Labor has recently started one research project which is a necessary first step. It is a monthly report on who the unemployed are and where they are.

The first report showed 30 per cent of the 1.5 million insured unemployed were unskilled, 15 per cent were in the building trades, 10 per cent in clerical trades, and so on.

Seventy-five per cent of the unemployed are men. Forty per cent are over 44 years old. Average unemployment is seven weeks for those under age 64, 14 weeks for those older.

To attack unemployment regionally, there is now before Congress proposed legislation for the relief of depressed areas. But this is only one other ulcer of the greater ill which President Sukarno calls technological indigestion.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, May 27—My instructors in the art and science of fire-engine chasing often told me never to throw down a story by writing a lead to the effect that the following piece does not amount to much, but—

So I am not throwing down this one but—

Would you be interested in a scuffle between a lot of lawyers, speculators and real estate promoters over the exclusive right to run a horse-park at San Juan, on the island of Puerto Rico, where the racing season runs 152 days a year, with an average handle of $20,000 a day at the windows, and a rake-off, knock-down or take of 16 per cent.

There is an additional variable handle on a weird form of off-track betting called the pool, which pays off at thousands to one, if any. This is a seven-horse parlay on the day's whole card.

Gents, as they used to say when prizefighters were held on the flat of the floor of the palm-roller behind the despicable corner-saloon, this here is a grudge fight. One group has been insinuating that another group, represented by Hyman Glickstein, a New York lawyer with a long career in union matters, is tainted with communism. And Glickstein's group is waving verified copies of public records from Harrisburg and shouting that one of the leading characters in group No. 1 got probation for one year, plus costs, for "fraudulent conversion in 1937 and a $500 fine plus one year, of which he served 15 days, on Jan. 22, 1945, for running a lottery. This shouting closes on an expiring note with the admission that the governor of Pennsylvania pardoned the erring brother a couple of years ago.

I encountered Mr. Glickstein at Newburgh, N. Y., in the forties when I was swinging a pick

Today in National Affairs

Old Slogans and Crusades Viewed as Not Working Out

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, May 28—Everything seems topsy-turvy in national politics today. The slogans and the crusades don't seem to be working out—at least not for the Democrats.

Time was when what was "good for the country was good for General Motors." But now, since the Federal Reserve Board has put more brakes on bank credit, the officials of General Motors are complaining that small business as well as big business are being hurt.

TIME WAS when a lawyer named Murray Chotiner of California—campaign manager at different times for Messrs. Nixon, Knowland, and Warren, respectively—was projected into the headlines by Democratic critics in the Senate on the ground that once he had become associated with politics as a manager of some kind, he must presumably cease thereafter between campaigns to practice his profession.

But now Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Democrat, takes his own opponent, Adlai Stevenson, to task for what the latter did in practicing his profession as a lawyer between campaigns. Mr. Kefauver was discussing, in one of his Florida speeches, the danger of big business gobbling up little business. He said:

"It is a remarkable thing to me that Mr. Stevenson is so strangely silent on this important subject. Mr. Stevenson's silence could hardly be due to his unfamiliarity with the subject. Just last year he was employed as a lawyer by the Radio Corporation of America to argue its case in the Supreme Court of the United States, against an anti-trust action brought by the United States."

MR. KEFAUVER was quick to add that he did not mean "to criticize a lawyer for representing any side in a lawsuit." This is quite a concession for any Democratic senator to make today after the way various Democratic senators sought recently to pillory Mr. Chotiner for representing clients in criminal cases.

Senator Kefauver, however, goes on to soothe the "lawyer vote" as he says:

"But Mr. Stevenson's case was somewhat different. At the time he accepted the R. C. A. retainer he was titular head of the Democratic party and what he said and did might well have been regarded as reflecting the views of the party and the direction in which it was going."

"Since Mr. Stevenson has placed himself and the party in a dubious position, I would have expected him to have clarified his opinion and his purposes in the matter of antitrust laws and their enforcement. His silence has been one of the curious facts of this campaign."

MAYBE THE silence was due to the small fact—as Mr. Stevenson himself now points out—that it wasn't an antitrust suit at all, but a private lawsuit between the R. C. A. and the Zenith Radio Company.

But, as for "silence," by Mr. Stevenson on various things political, it isn't, of course, a bit more curious than Mr. Kefauver's reluctance to speak out about another of his opponents—Governor Harriman of New York—who, because he is a multi-millionaire, might be thought to be ineligible for the Presidential nomination in a party dedicated to the proposition that big business is bad and the possession of millions of dollars of private wealth is even worse.

There are a lot of more or less "titular" things about Mr. Harriman's career. He is, for instance, the "titular" head of his party in New York State today, though some say Senator Lehman is the real boss. Mr. Harriman is believed to be the "titular head" still of a big railroad, having inherited a fortune from his father—the famous railroad king. The New York Governor was for many years, too, the "titular" head of a big banking house in Wall Street. But he is reported lately to have said something to this effect to his friends:

"BIG BUSINESS is bad. I know about its iniquities from the inside. Let me at 'em. What's good for Wall Street isn't good for the country."

It's Mr. Kefauver's implied criticism, however, of the law practice of defeated candidates in the Democratic party that has caused an arching of eyebrows on Capitol Hill. For if every candidate is to be barred from taking lawyer's fees from big corporations lest this conflict with his faithful responsibilities as "titular" head of the Democratic party in his home state or Congressional district, then some men who have been re-elected recently to Congress after an interval of defeat, are going to be embarrassed and some of them, perhaps ought not to attempt to avenge their defeat next autumn either, because they might possibly have to vote on legislation affecting some of their previous clients.

IT'S A topsy-turvy world in politics nowadays. There are plenty of words spoken on the stump, but so far as any thorough presentation of basic issues is concerned, the campaign is still nebulous—or perhaps, only "titular."

worth and the notion-counter sells shares down to a dime's worth. There were no restaurants, the roofs were of rusty tin and a goat could bust a leg at a browsing walk at any part of either track. The government wanted to attract some tourist sucker trade and provide a rival interest to divert hoi polloi from the popular but disruptive native sport of splitting throats. In the fall of '53, Laris hove to in a brassy cutter, rented the presidential suite of the Caribe Hilton and picked up the new franchise.

I am beginning to guess that you do not want any more details except that Laris demands $254,000 and Glickstein says Laris awarded his construction work at cost plus 15 per cent, without limit, to a company which he owned himself.

The governor of Puerto Rico, one Munoz Marin, a devotee of Dave Dubinsky, and Mr. Glickstein signed Marcantonio's nomination in 1936 when Marin lived in New York, but you can't make much of that. Heck, I voted for Roosevelt in 1936, including the off-track seven horse parlay the average gross handle subject to the 16 per cent lug has been $7,500,000 a year.

Decisive Test Run

Detroit (AP)—Traffic Judge John D. Watts called for a test when Chester S. Bragiel argued he could not have been doing 80 miles an hour when arrested for speeding. "Why my car couldn't get over 50, your honor," Bragiel complained. The judge had a policeman take Bragiel's car out on an expressway for a test run. The officer telephoned back that the car hit 80 miles an hour easily and could have gone faster. Bragiel was sent to jail for five days and ordered not to drive for a year.

Why We Say--

The practice of giving tips started in England in the 18th century. In coffee houses small boxes were provided to deposit a small coin for patrons who were in a hurry. The outside of the box was labeled "To Insure Promptness." The first letters of this phrase were abbreviated tip.

Debate Started

takes the rates for the near-est large city.

The interstate system would be a 40,000-mile network of major highways linking up all parts of the nation. The bulk of the federal funds under the bill would go to this program with Washington paying 90 per cent of the cost and the states the rest.

A House-passed road bill contains the Davis-Bacon provision, but the Senate Public Works Committee knocked it out in readying the measure for the Senate floor.

After Chavez offered his amendment, Sens. Capehart (R., Ind.) and Lehman (D.-N.Y.) said they had identical proposals and asked to serve as co-sponsors. Kuchel announced he would speak for it.

Senate Republican leader

Knowland (Calif.) told newsmen he understood today would be devoted mostly to talk, with votes on the bill coming tomorrow.

The Senate is considered certain to pass a bill calling for a multi-billion dollar roadbuilding program similar to the House measure. The arguments mainly are over details.

One fight is expected to center on methods of allocating federal interstate highway funds among the states. Sen. Gore (D.-Tenn.) today denounced the House-approved allocation plan as "highly inequitable."

Meet for Parade

Members of the A. H. Wicks Engine & Truck Company, Inc., who plan to participate in the local Memorial Day parade, are asked to meet at the fire station no later than 1:30 p. m. Transportation will be provided before and after the parade.

Jaycees to Sponsor Band Concert for Youth Activities

Chester B. Diffley, newly elected president of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, today announced that the organization will sponsor a concert by the Ontario Central School Band at the George Washington School on Thursday, June 7, at 8 p. m. Entire proceeds from the concert will benefit the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce youth activities fund.

Featured in the concert will be the school's 80-man concert band, its 18 man dance band, and its drum majorette squad.

Presenting a program approximately two hours long, the talented young musicians will play novelty numbers, marches, popular music, and semi-classical music.

Among the points throughout the city at which adults' and children's tickets can be purchased are Singer's Department Store, 60 Broadway; Ambrose Bros. confectionery, 364 Broadway; Kingston Chamber of Commerce office, Governor Clinton Hotel building; Governor Clinton Pharmacy, 236 Clinton Avenue, and O'Reilly stationery Co., Inc. 38 John street.

"Success in this concert will enable the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce to increase its effectiveness in the area of youth activities," Jaycee president Diffley said.

Present Kingston Jaycee youth activities include the Christmas shopping tour, the "I Speak for Democracy" contest, the Teenage road-e-o, junior golf, junior tennis, Little League, and the "Lite-A-Bike" campaign.

Chairman of the band concert committee is Attorney Seymour Werbalowsky. Other members of the committee are Morton Gazlay, program; Wayne Archibald, ticket distribution; and Marvin Millens, publicity.

Two Names Added To FBI List of Wanted Fugitives

Washington, May 28 (AP)—The FBI today made two additions to its list of "10 most wanted men," as replacements for two fugitives charged with the 1950 Boston Brink's robbery who were caught in that city two weeks ago.

The newly listed pair are: Carmine DiBlase, 33, wanted for a five-year-old murder on New York's lower east side.

Eugene Francis Newman, 30, charged with taking part in an abortive attempt to steal close to a half million dollars from an armored truck at Buffalo, N. Y., last Aug. 3 and now possibly in Canada.

DiBlase is also wanted on a New York police department list of 13 most-wanted fugitives.

HE IS ACCUSED of walking into an east side social club in the early morning of Dec. 26, 1951, and firing four shots into Michael Erreciello, 37, who was asleep in a chair. The victim had been best man at DiBlase's wedding and was the godfather of one of his children.

The FBI said associates have reported that DiBlase, who had previously served time for robbery, may have subsequently joined an international gang.

Of medium height, he weighs around 200 pounds, has black wavy hair and brown eyes, and scars on the left temple and the left side of his upper lip. He is a frequenter of taverns.

ACCORDING to the FBI, Newman was one of three men who broke into a Buffalo garage to await the arrival of an armored truck transferring $498,500 in American and Canadian currency from the Fort Erie, Ontario, race track last August.

When the truck drove in, one bandit let loose a burst from a machine gun, wounding a guard. When an alarm was sounded the hold-up men dropped the cash they had seized from the truck and fled. A running gun battle ensued, ending with the capture of two of the men in a private home where they took refuge. Newman made good an escape.

Newman, who reportedly handled the machine gun, has a police record dating back to 1943 and was given a bad conduct discharge from the navy in 1946 after serving a year in disciplinary barracks for various infractions of regulations. He has been in prison numerous times.

He is of medium height and weight, has blond hair and blue eyes and scars near his right eye and the back of his right hand.

Both men were described as having vicious tempers, probably armed and extremely dangerous.

Knights Urge U. S., Vatican Relations

Buffalo, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—An exchange of formal diplomatic missions between the U. S. and the Vatican is being urged by the New York State Council of the Knights of Columbus.

The Roman Catholic organization urged the exchange Saturday in a formal resolution taken at its 61st annual meeting held here over the weekend.

As an alternative, the Knights asked for the appointment of a special presidential representative to the Vatican.

In another resolution, the council's 562 delegates voted in opposition to the seating of Red China in the United Nations.

There are four dental offices on the U. S. aircraft carrier Saratoga.

Ellen Nerz Dies Of Injuries in Tillson Accident

Ellen Nerz, 18, of New Paltz, was killed about 9:30 p. m. Saturday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Route 32 and Grove street in the hamlet of Tillson.

Samuel J. Van Kleek, 30, of 107 Henry street, who suffered lacerations of the scalp, concussion and a possible fracture of the skull, was reported fair this morning at Benedictine Hospital.

Three other persons were treated and discharged—Mrs. Herman Nerz, 46, of New Paltz, at Kingston Hospital for severe multiple lacerations of the face, neck and shoulders and shock; Herman Nerz, 53, of New Paltz, lacerations of the face and left knee; and Kenneth Tyler, Jr., 18, of 435 Abell street, lacerations of the scalp and both knees, contusions of the head and left shoulder.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle, who investigated with Kingston state police, said death was accidental due to a left hemiothorax—fractured ribs on the left side. Working on the case were Cpl. Edward Shannon and Trooper J. J. Harwood, BCI, and Troopers Raymond Kowalski and William Shurtner.

Troopers said Mr. and Mrs. Nerz and their daughter, Ellen, were passengers in a car operated by Charles Otto Gutekunst, 25, of Brooklyn, traveling south on Route 32 upgrade about 40 MPH. The car was in collision with a car operated by Tyler, traveling west on Grove street about 15 or 20 MPH.

Troopers said Tyler reached the intersection before he anticipated and, on impulse turned left and swung the wheel to the right.

The Gutekunst car hit the Tyler vehicle in the right front with its left front in the south-bound lane, it was reported. Van Kleek was a passenger in the Tyler car.

Miss Nerz, a native of New York city, was a graduate of New Paltz High School, class of 1955. She was employed at IBM, Kingston. Besides her parent, she is survived by several uncles and aunts. She was a member of New Paltz Reformed Church. Funeral services Wednesday at 2 p. m. from Pine Funeral Home New Paltz conducted by the Rev. G. J. Willschlegel, of New Paltz Reformed Church. Burial will be in New Paltz Rural Cemetery. Friends may call tonight and Tuesday evening.

Patriotism

it has now increased in scope to honor the dead of all wars and friends and departed relatives. He said he hoped that the "flowers cast upon the waters here today" will reach the bodies of "the men who go down to the sea in ships."

The observance of Memorial Day since its inception was traced by the Rev. Mr. Chapell.

The musical portion of the service included selections by the Salvation Army Band and a male trio including George Shaver, Edward Luedtke and Robert Moore of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church. The Rev. Clarence E. Brown, chaplain of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, delivered the invocation and benediction and also read a poem, "My America."

Three volleys were fired over the waters by a squad from Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League. Taps were sounded by John Ray Mayone.

THE OBSERVANCE was under the supervision of Ladies' Auxiliary 53, Tappan Camp No. 1, Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War. James M. Krom, commander, was chairman. Organizations represented included Auxiliary No. 53, Miss Hazel Greene, president; Colonial Camp No. 75, United Spanish War Veterans, Ezra Quick, commander; Joyce-Schirick Post 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Leslie Munson, commander; Company M Veterans Association, John W. Krueger, commander; Kingston Post 150, American Legion, Daniel A. Bittner, Jr., commander; Ulster Detachment, Marine Corps League, Valmore F. Carpenter, commandant; St. Ignatius Loyola Post 1769, Catholic War Veterans, Rogers F. Murphy, commander.

OTHER GROUPS represented included Civil Air Patrol Squadron, Capt. Sidney Lane, squadron commander; Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary; Mrs. Katherine Bates, president; American Legion Auxiliary, represented by Mrs. Anna Schmidt, a Gold Star Mother; Salvation Army, Mrs. Rosalie Davis, captain.

Representatives of the organizations cast wreaths and flowers upon the creek waters in memory of the veterans who lost their lives in the service of their country.

A WREATH in memory of the Grand Army of the Republic, of which there is only one surviving member in the United States, was cast by Chief Quartermaster James Wingo, USN, officer-in-charge of the local Navy recruiting station.

Mr. Krom announced that since last year's observance there are 43 new graves of veterans in Kingston cemeteries including three United Spanish War veterans, 29 World War 1 veterans, eight World War 2 veterans, one Korean veteran, one U. S. Coast Guard and one regular Army veteran.

Ives Thinks Power Bill Won't Pass

Washington, May 28 (P)—Sen. Irving Ives (R-N.Y.) doesn't think this Congress will pass a bill to let New York State build new power plants at Niagara Falls.

He said in a radio program recorded yesterday for later use in New York that the House of Representatives "is not likely" to accept a Senate Bill giving the State the go-ahead.

The Senator, who enters a Washington hospital tomorrow for major surgery, said that another Congress would have to "start all over again on the Niagara power question."

He said he remained "unalterably opposed" to the bill because of a provision giving preference in allocation of Niagara power to rural electric cooperatives and similar organizations.

Ives said that the State should develop the power and sell it in the transmission area without discrimination.

Rabbinical Group Will Visit Russia in June

New York, May 28 (P)—A second group of American Rabbis will visit the Soviet Union this summer.

Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer, secretary of the New York Board of Rabbis, announced yesterday that from 8 to 10 board members will leave about June 27 for a month's tour of Russia and other eastern European countries. The board represents Orthodox, Conservative and Reform spiritual leaders.

Five members of the Rabbinical Council of America, an organization of Orthodox Rabbis, are to depart about June 18 for a visit to the Soviet Union.

Both trips are for the purpose of re-establishing spiritual ties with Jewish religious leaders in Russia.

Dionne Sisters Plan Quiet 22nd Birthday

Montreal, May 28 (P)—The four surviving Dionne quintts planned a quiet get-together outside of Montreal today to celebrate their 22nd birthday.

Ones report said they were going to Nicolet, Que., where Annette is studying music.

The birthday is the second since Emilie, the fifth sister, died in 1954 during an epileptic seizure.

Marie is busy with her newly opened flower shop and Yvonne and Cecile are training as nurses at a suburban hospital.

The four girls went home to Callander, Ont., a year ago to pick up a million dollar birthday gift, the trust fund accumulated from their earnings.

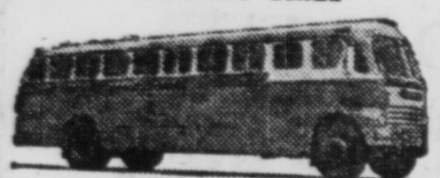

American Film Wins

Cork, Ireland, May 28 (P)—"I'll Cry Tomorrow" was the only American prizewinner at the windup of the Cork International Film Festival last night. A French production, "Les Assassins Du Dimanche (The Sunday Killers)" was judged the best film. "I'll Cry Tomorrow," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's filming of the rehabilitation from alcoholism of singer Lillian Roth, was given an award for the "collective high quality of acting." The picture also supplied the only American winner at this year's Cannes Film Festival. Susan Hayward, who plays Miss Roth in the film, won the prize for actresses.

To Get Degree

Belton, Tex., May 28 (P)—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, president and editor of the Houston Post and former secretary of health, education and welfare under President Eisenhower, will receive an honorary degree today from her alma mater, Mary Hardin-Baylor College. Mrs. Hobby, who will receive the honorary degree of doctor of humanities, will also give the principal address at the school's 111th graduation exercises.

Technical Training System Is Lacking

New York, May 28 (P)—Gen. Walter Bedell (Ret.), former ambassador to Russia, said today the nation's "position is dominant" in the realm of atomic energy. But he said we still need more scientists.

"There has been a tendency of late to compare American scientific achievements in this field somewhat unfavorably with those of . . . the Soviet Union," Smith said.

"I am not one of those who would be inclined to sell our native genius short, but we must deal with realities. Our technical training systems need to be enlarged and improved to supply greater numbers of scientists."

Smith, who was Gen. Eisenhower's chief of staff in World War II, is now vice chairman of the board of the American Machine & Foundry Co. His remarks were in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual luncheon of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce.

Smith said there is "nothing wrong with the quality of our American performance in the atomic arena. It is and has been superb from the beginning. As far as I know today, our position is dominant."

Freight Derailed

Littleton, Mass., May 28 (P)—Boston & Maine Railroad work crews toiled today to clear the road's main line tracks between Boston and Troy, N. Y., of a freight train derailment. Fifteen cars of the 107-car train left the rails yesterday, crashing into two other freight cars standing on a siding. Helena Sapach, 27, of Littleton was treated for shock and bruises. State police said she apparently was "struck by something" while standing on the station platform. None of the train personnel was injured. Seven of the derailed cars were loaded with coal while the others contained general freight.

Frustrated!

North Bergen, N. J., May 28 (P)—Police today sought an unidentified man who borrowed a sledge hammer from a construction worker Saturday, smashed a parking meter into bits and sped off on a motorcycle, saying "I've always wanted to do this." Police said the worker, Joseph Picone, was repairing a sidewalk on Bergenline avenue at the time of the incident. Picone and another witness were so startled they failed to note the registration of the man's motorcycle.

Among the Romancers

By FRANK TRIPP

Had a good chance lately to hear nostalgic tall tales projected by other old-timers; to view objectively how they may oft think mine a pack of lies; yarns so much retold and elaborated as to become real to the narrator.

It was at a gathering of some 500 newspaper veterans. The youngest had been 25 years at newspapering, from that back to 55 years, many long retired. Yet all of them still on the beam.

I sat next to a lithe and beautiful gal, a dead ringer for Ovetta Culp Hobby, and figured that she must be the thing paid secretary.

Later I thought that I had then into the wrong meeting, when told that she was a 32-Star member. Then I was sure at this must be the Liars Club, and she the grand exalted liar. Don't believe it yet.

THE YARNS and experiences that floated around that night did make a whole library of marvelous suspense reading, speed to form, the more weird improbable the experience, a co more veterans there were to remember it well and add hardening details.

Other couple of the sagas I tucked and slice sché paig how New ber M ern cons nopo ernir ers li away for a "rainy day" column. Only to find that I have already written them, with even more mystic and vivid embellishment than these real actors in them portrayed the incidents to be. It's a disease.

Veterans who, as young reporters, wrote some true, drab story in half a column, can make a full page thriller of it 30 years later, when there's no one left to dispute them. I still have a few waiting for someone to die, who could make a liar of me.

JUST HOW RELIABLE is history anyway? Strange things happen between an event and the times of its retelling. Lots of it would not be worth recording if chronicled exactly as it happened; as the newspapers of its day reported it.

It is jolly that the years magnify eras, people and incidents in our lives. It must be part of God's scheme to keep old-timers happy. Must be He planned that, when age slows activity, things through which we have passed loom more important than they were: romantic, heroic, astounding, unbelievable. Our best fiction.

I KNOW an old fellow who had always kept a diary; had them back for many years. In time I discovered that his yarns didn't always jibe with his diaries. One day I noticed some alterations in the old records. For fun I singled out one discrepancy and slyly asked the old man to tell me again the story about the neighbor who swapped his wife for a pig. According to his diary, the wife had been dead two years when the swap took place.

SURE ENOUGH, crowded into a diary of two years later, the wife died for a second time. Truth was that the widower neighbor had swapped a hired girl. There's always some factual basis for old-timers' tales. And they can always wriggle out. It is going to be tough on coming generations of romancers, with all of the permanent micro files and volumes of unperishable rag paper editions of current newspapers lying around public libraries. Lying, not lying. (Copyright, 1956, General Features Corp.)

Unwise Pass Leads to Ruin

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

When should you pass your partner's take-out double for penalties? Only when you have reason to believe that the penalty pass will be more productive than any other action. This will be true when you have length and strength in the ene-defeat one heart; and a spade contract was far more attractive.

West opened the king of spades against the contract of one heart doubled. South ruffed and led a diamond. West took the king of diamonds and led another spade, forcing South to ruff again.

South next led a club towards dummy's queen, allowing East to win with the king. East was at last able to lead a trump, but South won with the king, cashed the ace of clubs, ruffed a club in dummy, and led a spade from dummy. This enabled declarer to ruff with his last low trump. He was thus sure of five trump tricks in his own hand, one ruff in dummy, and the ace of clubs.

East should have bid one spade in response to the takeout double. West would have raised to four spades, and East would have made the game and rubber without even breathing hard.

How could East tell that a spade bid would work out so well? A player who doubles one major suit guarantees good support for the other major. This is especially true when the doubler is vulnerable against non-vulnerable opponents. Hence East should have reached for a sure profit in spades rather than for a doubtful penalty against hearts.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Now with folks talking about the Rondout Creek Bridge being inadequate for the increased traffic, lots of folks still remember when the Skillypot used to take care of the traffic the best way it could.

The Rondout creek at this point, is an important link of 9W, and on such weekends like Decoration Day, cars used to wait to get across for hours at a time. They would line up to Broadway and Abeel street.

Before the days of the Riverside Ferry, or Skillypot, transportation across the Rondout creek was by means of a scow, large enough to carry a team of horses and a wagon. It was owned and operated by John P. Sleight. A horn was hung on any available post on the Rondout side of the creek and when passage was desired to Sleightsburg, the horn was blown and one of Sleight's farmhands would scull over and return with the passenger. Later, Elijah Elmore March of Esopus was hired for this job. Upon the death of John P. Sleight, the scow was operated by his two sons, Abraham and Isaac Sleight.

On December 24, 1854, articles were drawn up for the first steam ferry boat between these two points. The new ferry was called the "John P. Sleight," a somewhat smaller craft than the well known "Riverside," her successor. Stanton and Mallory of Newburgh built the Sleight's engines which operated on the principle of a chain fastened to both shores. In March of 1870, during the severe freshet, this ferry was swept down the Hudson. It was overtaken by the famous Norwich near Esopus Island. After being brought back its broken seams were stuffed with oakum, but the hull was found to be practically useless. Morgan and Everett constructed a new hull. Engines of the "John P. Sleight" were installed in the new hull, and the "Riverside" came into existence in 1870 at Sleightsburg. The hull length was 55 feet; breadth of beam was 20 feet; depth of hold was 5 feet 9 inches; and the gross tonnage was 51 tons. The engines were overhauled by John Dillon (of McEntee & Dillon) of Rondout, before they were installed in the "Riverside."

"On the death of Isaac Sleight, his son-in-law, Herbert Starkey, gained control and operated it until November, 1903. After the death of Herbert Starkey, it was taken over by Albert Norris of Ulster Park, who ran it until 1906 when it was sold to Dr. Joe Hasbrouck of Port Ewen. The Hasbrouck family sold it in the twenties, after 33 years of service, to John A. Fisher of Rondout. The famous engine built in 1854 was sold to the Henry Ford Museum at Dearborn, Mich., where it is on display.

The Riverside made her last trip on October 14, 1922, although the Rondout Creek Bridge had been open since November 29, 1921. On October 25, 1922, the Riverside was beached on the Sleightsburg side of the creek. Fred J. Becker of Connelly, N. Y., was captain of the Riverside for 16 or 17 years. Previous to that, Captain James Rodman was in charge. The fares for passage were 2 cents for each passenger; 25 cents for each vehicle and 2 cents for each passenger in the vehicle except the chauffeur who paid no fare. The Riverside carried six vehicles in two lines of three each.

There are more than 100,000 steam locomotives in operation outside the United States.

Supporter Says
Schroon Lake, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—President Eisenhower may face a "long tough" race for reelection, one supporter has said. Richard L. Tobin of New York city, director of public relations for the National Citizens for Eisenhower Committee, said that the President himself is extremely popular but the GOP is still the minority party of the United States. He addressed a meeting of Group 5, New York State Bankers Assn., Saturday. Tobin said that "Ike has to cut deeply into the Democratic vote to be reelected." He said that the election "is not in the bag" and that the Republicans could "easily" lose it through complacency.

Morhouse Advises State and Union Milk Alliance

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—A state Republican leader today called for cooperation by the Harriman administration and the Teamsters union to increase milk consumption in New York State.

GOP state chairman L. Judson Morhouse said a government-union alliance could "help loosen the noose that is strangling our dairy farmers."

HIS REMARKS were in a speech prepared for delivery at a conference of Republican chairmen of Dutchess, Putnam, Rockland and Westchester counties. Other party workers attended.

The meeting was the eighth and last in a series of "shirt-sleeve" conferences the GOP scheduled preliminary to a campaign to win President Eisenhower a million-vote majority in New York State in the November election.

Morhouse said the state government could help increase milk consumption by easing "the monopoly-creating regulations governing the issuance of milk-dealer licenses." He said there should be "healthy, constructive competition."

THE CHAIRMAN asserted that the Teamsters union and other organizations of milk deliverers could help with more efficiency in delivery methods. He said that the cost of getting milk to consumers was the greatest single item in the farm-home process.

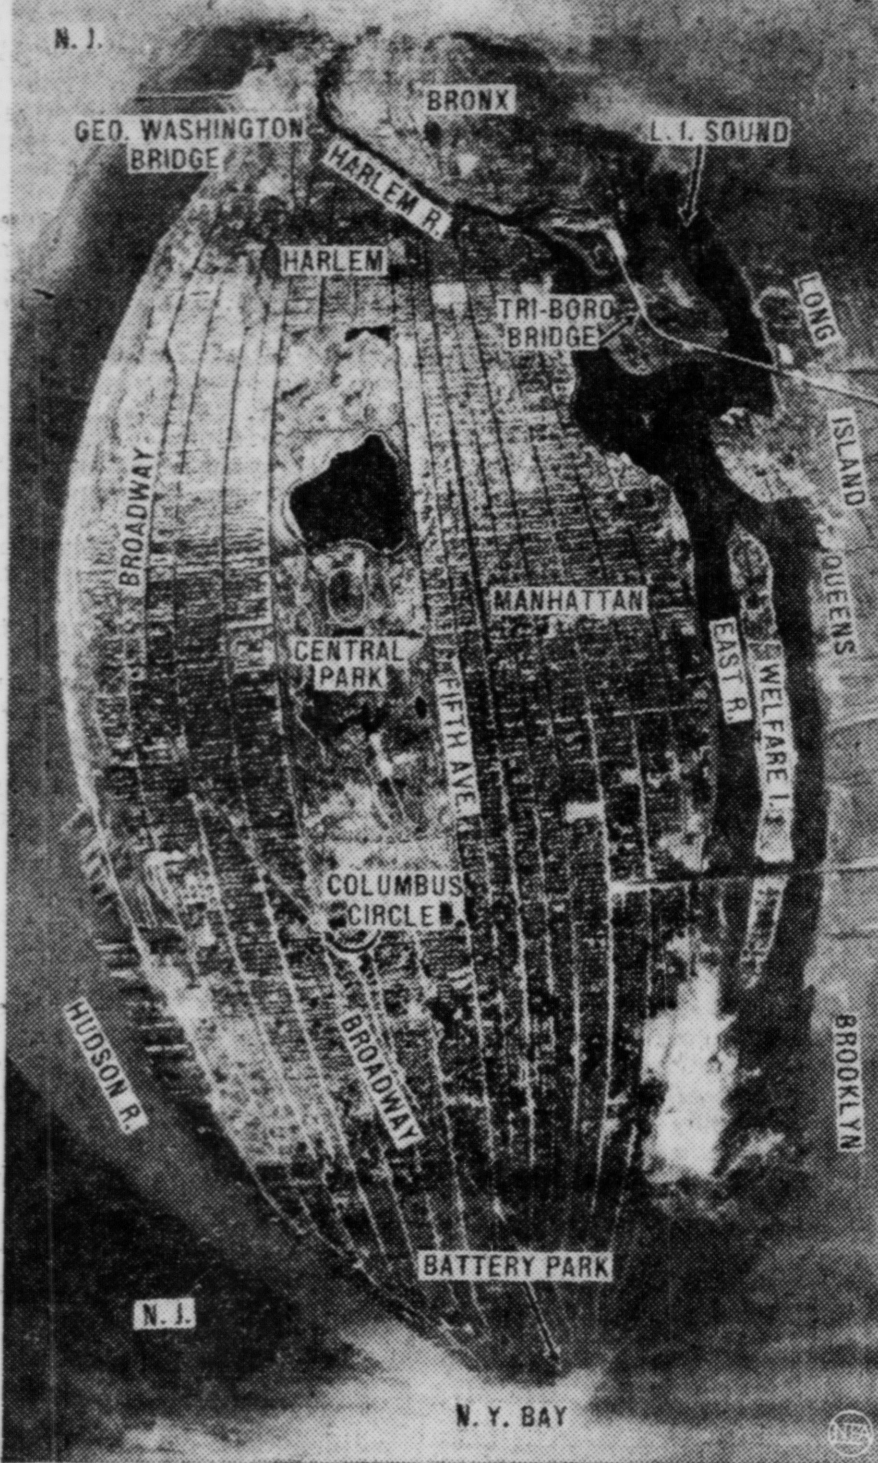

The Republican chairman said the oversupply of milk might also be reduced by moving "a sharply accelerated, dynamic promotional campaign . . . into the competitive arena with coffee, tea, fruit juices, soft drinks and beer."

HE SAID THAT such steps as volume discounts, delivery-marketing efficiencies and increased consumption would raise dairy income and might reduce the retail price of milk.

But such a program, he said, would be stymied without cooperation of the state administration and "responsible union officials who realize that union members prosper in proportion to the economic health of the industry in which they make their living."

Eight in Priesthood

Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England, May 28 (AP)—Joseph O'Hara, yesterday joined his seven brothers in the Roman Catholic priesthood. All seven attended the ordination in Minsteracres Abbey, including two from Birmingham, Ala. Also on hand were the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Hara, and more than 50 other relatives. The eight brothers range in age from 26 to 39, Joseph being the youngest. The two who came from America for the ceremony were Fathers Alban and John O'Hara.

Insects in Forest

Nottingham, England, May 28 (AP)—The Forestry Commission said today tree-killing insects are attacking Sherwood Forest, where Robin Hood once played cops and robbers with the sheriff of Nottingham. The insects, a kind of weevil, have destroyed or damaged 40,000 trees. "The position is very serious," said a commission official. "The plague is rapidly turning some of the Robin Hood beauty spots into black spots."

Miss Saugerties Contestants Will Hear Decision at Coronation Ball Tuesday

The 12 official contestants of the Miss Saugerties Beauty Pageant sponsored by Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce were interviewed and judged during the pageant reception held at Sack's Lodge, Katsbaan Saturday afternoon and now must wait for the announcement of the winner to be made Tuesday night at the Coronation Ball at the Flamingo Restaurant, 9W Saugerties.

Nearly $300 worth of prizes will go to the new Miss Saugerties including the Miss Saugerties cup. During a brief ceremony at the ball, the new Miss Saugerties will be crowned by Miss Crystal Jobst, Miss Saugerties of 1955 at 11 p. m.

The judges were in conference for more than three hours during which time they judged each contestant individually in 10-minute interviews. Later in the afternoon the judges were able to see the girls in bathing suits while the official pageant photographs were taken including color or motion pictures.

The judging was based on five classifications: facial beauty, figure, poise, charm and personality and grace and grooming.

The judges were Mrs. Dorothy Narel, society editor of Kingston Daily Freeman; Miss Alyce Kowalski, assistant to the manager of personnel administration at IBM, Kingston; Carl Stocken-burg, mayor of Red Hook and Albert Kurdt, manager of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Following the judging a luncheon was served to the contestants, judges and committee members.

Mrs. Albert L. Giannotti, coronation ball chairman announced that in the special ticket selling contest among the contestants, more than 75 tickets to the ball have been sold up to Saturday.

Others attending the pageant in addition to the contestants and judges were Mrs. Marzell Roming, general chairman of the pageant; Thomas W. Reynolds Jr., president of the chamber; Mrs. Albert J. Cawein and Mr. Cawein, executive secretary of the chamber; Miss Jobst, Miss Saugerties of 1955; and Miss Irene Roming.

Area Church Women Plan Food-Bake Sale

A food and bake sale will be conducted by the Council of United Church Women of Kingston Friday from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. at Smith Avenue Bull Market.

The money raised is to be used for local projects where funds or equipment is required to improve the facilities of the community.

The committee has requested that all church women of Kingston help in the sale by making donations or by purchasing items. To offer assistance donors or helpers should contact the representatives to the council in their individual churches or donors may call Mrs. John Riehoff or Mrs. Marshall Winchell, co-chairmen.

MRS. STANLEY MALECKI

Georgette Majestic and Stanley Malecki Are Wed in St. Charles Church, Gardiner

St. Charles Church, Gardiner, was the scene of the marriage of Miss Georgette J. Majestic, daughter of Mrs. Mary Majestic of Gardiner and the late Joseph Majestic to Stanley A. Malecki, son of Mrs. Sophie Malecki of Poughkeepsie and the late Valentine Malecki Saturday, May 26, at 1:30 p. m.

The double ring ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Alfred C. Kelly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Kingston.

Martin Kelly, soloist of Kingston, sang "Ave Maria," "Mother Beloved" and "Panis Angelicus" to the accompaniment of Mrs. Warren McDowell, organist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Frank Majestic, the bride was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace, fashioned with an elongated torso, long tapered sleeves and a bateau neckline. Her full floor-length skirt was paneled in lace and nylon tulle and she wore a matching sweetheart bridal cap embroidered in pearls and sequins which secured a French illusion chapel length veil. She carried a Prayer book adorned with an orchid and shower of Stephanotis.

Miss Janet Denton of Gardiner served as maid of honor and wore a gown of Olympic blue fitted bodice, portrait neckline and a full waltz length skirt. Her headpiece consisted of a matching pill box type cap with circular tulle veil and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink roses.

Best man was Donald Brower, brother-in-law of the bridegroom of Poughkeepsie and ushers were George Majestic of Gardiner, the bride's brother and Charles Rogers of Poughkeepsie, the bridegroom's brother in law.

The reception was held at Pine Tree Inn, 9W, Newburgh.

For the wedding journey to Bermuda, the bride chose for her traveling ensemble a light blue suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride, a graduate of New Paltz Central High School, attended Moran-Spencerian School of Business, Kingston and was employed with Quilty Insurance Agency.

The bridegroom was graduated from Poughkeepsie Trade School and is employed with IBM, Kingston.

The newlyweds will make their home at 105 Wurts street.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

VISITING THE SICK

Today's first letter tells me: "My husband is home recuperating from a very serious operation. He is well enough to be up and around, but is still very weak. Since he has been home many of his friends have come in to see him. He is very happy to have visitors, but some of them stay too long and after they have gone he is completely exhausted. Is there any way he can tactfully get them to leave after a certain length of time without making them feel that he does not appreciate their visits?"

There is only one thing to do. You must take each visitor aside and explain seriously that the doctor insists that your husband must not see any visitor for more than a specified time—and remind all visitors the moment their time is up.

Announcing Engagement to Widower

Dear Mrs. Post: I am engaged to a man who has been married before. His wife passed away several years ago. I want to announce our engagement in the newspaper but he says it is incorrect to announce an engagement this way when one or the other has been married before. Will you please tell me if he is right?

Answer: I'm glad to be able to tell you that there will be no impropriety in your announcing your engagement in the newspaper.

Graduation Dresses

Dear Mrs. Post: At previous graduations, the class always wore caps and gowns. This year we would like to wear long white dresses instead. However, the exercises will take place at a morning hour and the question has been raised as to whether long dresses would be proper in the morning. Will you please advise us?

Answer: Long dresses are quite proper at graduation, whether the exercises take place in the evening or in the morning.

How should the men of a small wedding party be dressed? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but leaflet E-8, "Today's Typical Wedding," includes small weddings. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of the Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

81 Attend Reunion at The Barn of Class That Graduated From Kingston High in '31

A group of 81 attended a reunion at The Barn in observance of the 25th anniversary of Kingston High School's 1931 graduation class Saturday night. Many who now live out of the city were among those attending and letters and telegrams of a number from more distant points, who were unable to attend, were read by Albert Roosa, the toastmaster. Several in the reunion, which included wives and husbands of the graduates, had not seen each other in the 25 years since graduation.

Messages and letters included a cablegram from distant Saudi Arabia by Dorothy Parliam Groat, who now lives there. A telegram from Betty Boeve Schoonover, Arlington, Va., was read, and the letters were from Duke Gilday, Sterling, N. J., Harlan and Sylvia Mann Wilbur, Arlington, Texas, Ann Beecher, Jamaica, N. Y., Frances Robinson Balbridge, Los Angeles, Calif., and Virginia Mullen Benack, Syracuse.

Albert Roosa headed the committee on arrangements composed of Vincent Pretsch, George Carpenter, Warren Russell, Dorothy Du Mond, and Chester Baltz, Jr.

The head table was decorated with the original class banner, loaned by the sister of the class president, Edward Delemater, who died in World War 2. Also remembered by his classmates, was Capt. Millard Pirie, a member of Gen Patton's tank corps, who died in the war.

Those who attended were Phyllis Osterhoudt Cox, Pittsfield, Mass., Sidney Lutzin, Al-

Asks Funds Restored

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) says he hopes the Senate "will be able to restore" much of the billion dollars a House committee cut from President Eisenhower's foreign aid program. But three Democratic senators contended, also in weekend interviews, that Eisenhower should line up more support from Republican Senate leaders if he wants favorable action. The Democrats are Sens. Sparkman (Ala.) Humphrey (Minn.) and Mansfield (Mont.). Like Smith they are members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 request, which now is holding hearings on request.

THE STORY OF MARTHA WAYNE

OUT OUR WAY

BARBS

By HAL COCHRAN
After a girl is married she discovers that candy can be bought in small ten-cent bags, too.

When she has a temper she can't control, a woman usually has a husband she can.

Pop Jones, our down-the-road driver crashed into a telephone pole. Wire, pole, and everything came down round his ears. They found him unconscious in the wreckage but, as they were untangling him, he reached out feebly, fingered the wires and murmured:

Pop Jones -- Thank heaven I lived a clean life. They've given me a harp.

The average young man can hold his own in dancing, says a teacher. But, why so close?

Paul--I notice that in telling about the fish you caught, you vary the size of it for different listeners.

Jim--Yes, I never tell a man more than I think he will believe.

In Barnes Green, England, the winner of a competition to name the "most useful domestic gadget" was a woman who named her husband.

A gallant Tommy, having received from England an anonymous gift of socks, entered them at once, for he was about to undertake a heavy march. He was soon prey to the most excruciating agony, and when a mere cripple, he drew off his footgear at the end of a terrible day, he discovered inside the toe of the sock what had once been a piece of stiff writing paper, now reduced to pulp. On it appeared, in bold, feminine hand, the almost illegible benediction: "God bless the wearer of this pair of socks."

Making an issue of little things is one of the surest ways to spoil happiness.

Play Safe While You Drive!

Keep alert--chew gum

Avoid traffic jitters and driving drowsiness. Chew gum while you're behind the wheel. Chewing helps relieve strain and tension--helps keep you feeling fresh and alert for safer driving. Chew any brand of gum you like but chew while you drive. Naturally, we recommend Wrigley's Spearmint Gum--for lively, satisfying flavor and real chewing enjoyment. AKOS

"Would you mind hanging this basketball net about halfway up?"

Dulles Welcomes Policy Talk in 1956 Campaign

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles says he will welcome a "high-level" discussion of foreign policy in the 1956 political campaign if it doesn't involve "just throwing dead cats around."

Dulles, now vacationing at Lake Ontario, made the comment in a television interview with Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) filmed earlier for release yesterday.

Keating asked if Dulles thought foreign policy would be an election issue in the fall campaign.

"I BELIEVE," Dulles replied, "that at a time like that there should be a discussion of foreign policy." He added, "I think it's a healthy thing that every four years foreign policy should be discussed."

"I hope very much," he continued, "that the discussion will be on a high level, and be constructive and really educational from the standpoint of the American people, and not just throwing dead cats around."

Under Keating's questioning, the secretary of state went on to defend some of his practices which have been attacked by Democrats.

On his frequent travels, Dulles said it is "silly" not to take advantage of rapid air transportation, which he said permits better results and understanding than the "old-fashioned" method of exchanging notes.

ON BIPARTISANSHIP, Dulles said he has met with more congressional committees than any other secretary of state. He said "big, critical issues" were discussed with leaders of both parties both before and after the decisions were made.

The secretary said President Eisenhower has made "perhaps a unique contribution" to U. S. foreign policy, compared to recent presidents, because of Eisenhower's "very profound firsthand knowledge of foreign affairs."

Urges TV Debate For Candidates

Washington, May 28 (AP)—Democratic national chairman Paul Butler said yesterday it is "the duty" of President Eisenhower to meet the Democratic presidential nominee in a television debate. GOP chairman Leonard Hall quickly rejected the idea and challenged the sincerity of the proposal.

The two party leaders tangled in an NBC-TV debate in which they promised their campaigns will be free of "mudslinging." Each then accused the other of countenancing scandals in the Truman and Eisenhower administrations.

HALL PREDICTED Eisenhower would be returned to the White House this fall by an overwhelming majority. Butler said there is greater demand for "a change" now than a year ago.

Butler did not name any specific Democratic candidates in challenging Eisenhower to a television debate. He said Eisenhower would definitely reject the idea of appearing in a "stage show" with "Robert Montgomery of Hollywood directing."

Hall questioned Butler's sincerity in making the proposal and said "as far as I'm concerned it won't be accepted." He added, "Did Roosevelt or Truman ever accept such a challenge?"

HALL'S GENERAL theme was a vigorous defense of administration policies in national defense, the federal budget and taxation, civil rights and economic prosperity.

Butler accused Eisenhower of failing to follow through on a great number of campaign promises he said were made in 1952. He cited reduction of taxes and the national debt and balancing the budget as instances.

"Why don't you be honest with the American people?" Hall replied. "You know the budget's balanced."

Wave Won

Norfolk, Va. (AP)—A wave, Lt. Gloria DeHart, holds two important distinctions here. She was the only woman in a class of 25 to attend basic and advance Combat Information Center classes at the Fleet Training Center here. And she led both classes. Her intellectual exploits were rewarded with a promotion to senior lieutenant.

Conventions Bring In $235 Million

Albany, N. Y., May 28 (AP)—Convention delegates added 235 million dollars to New York state business income last year.

There were 2 1/2 million conventioners, the Commerce Department reports, and they attended 1,400 meetings.

This was the statewide picture: New York city: 756 conventions, 2,265,000 delegates, 214 million dollars spent. Buffalo: 87 conventions, 65,000 delegates, 6 million dollars. Syracuse: 117 conventions, 48,000 delegates, 4 million dollars.

Rochester: 85 conventions, 70,000 delegates, 3 million dollars spent. Albany: 134 conventions, 42,000 delegates, 2 million. Saratoga Springs: 6 conventions, 52,000 delegates, $346,000. Binghamton: 18 conventions, 10,000 delegates, $450,000.

Schenectady: 17 conventions, 5,000 delegates, $250,000 spent. Niagara Falls: 17 conventions, 6,000 delegates, $180,000. Jamestown: 8 conventions; 1,500 delegates, $60,000. Elmira, 41 conventions, $288,000.

Would Suspend Act

Taipei, Formosa May 28 (AP)—An influential Taipei newspaper today urged the Nationalist government to suspend the program under which 2,000 Chinese are to enter the United States under the Refugee Relief Act. The United Daily News said: "Most of the so-called refugees are high class Chinese whose sons or daughters are studying in the United States. These Chinese have sent their money to the United States by devious means and now want to settle there in the guise of refugees. The whole thing makes us lose face."

Seven Schools Get Aid

New York, May 28 (AP)—The Commonwealth Fund has awarded $4,850,000 to seven university medical schools, including $750,000 to the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry and $500,000 to the Albany Medical College of Union University. The grants, announced yesterday, are for the schools to do with as they please. They bring to $12,600,000 the total of such gifts made by the fund since last November. Malcolm P. Aldrich, president of the fund, said money for the new grants came from capital assets and current income of the $120,000,000 trust set up by the late Mrs. Stephen V. Harkness, widow of the John D. Rockefeller partner.

DJ Honeymoons

Cairo, Egypt, May 28 (AP)—California disc jockey Carroll H. Pederson Jr. and his "Princess of the Nile" honeymooned at Cleopatra's old swimming hole today and planned for a trip to the United States. "I would like it known that this is not a publicity stunt," said the 26-year-old radio announcer from Pasadena, Calif. He and Laurence Shaker, 22 and an Egyptian Airlines secretary, were married in the Anglican All Saints Cathedral after a romance carried on by mail and tape recordings. "We feel very devotedly about our love," the bridegroom declared.

Honor Both Armies

New York, May 28 (AP)—A two-hour ceremony was held in the rain yesterday by a group of admirers of the Confederacy to honor both Confederate and Union Army dead. The tribute was paid in the section of a national cemetery in Brooklyn where 3,000 Union Army soldiers are buried. History students at a nearby junior high school discovered last year the graves of 460 Confederate soldiers are scattered among those of the Union soldiers. Speeches, poems and Confederate songs were included in the Sunday ceremony.

WAGES OF MONEY

The wages of money are headed higher. This encouraging sign can be seen in communities from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico.

It is all to the good. Why is this true? Because thrift and saving are regaining some of their former respectability. Cheap money and high prices and costs breed economic indifference and carelessness.

From Pearl Harbor day in 1941 and continuing for nearly a decade New York city savings banks paid 1½ per cent a year on deposits. It was a most discouraging time for thrifty people who were confronted daily with rising prices and costs. To solve this dilemma, many people tried speculation.

DURING THE period when interest on savings bank deposits declined from 4½ to 1½ per cent annually, most living costs doubled and trebled. Thus, millions of individuals and thousands of institutions living partially on interest income were caught in an economic vortex. Standards of living had to be reduced and social readjustments made. Aged people went to live uncomfortably with relatives and social institutions had to cut expenses far below decent levels.

Starting in January 1950, most savings banks in New York city increased interest rates from 1½ to 2 per cent annually. And now, six years later, they have gone to 3 per cent.

Thrift and saving are two of the world's greatest economic virtues. It should be a matter of universal rejoicing that the wages of money are regaining some of their old pristine glory.

Everybody knows how listless would be the work of any employee forced to labor at low wages. Plant and factory morale are reasonably well maintained where wage levels are high and working conditions good.

Well, figuratively speaking, money wages have been living in the slums for two decades and working at hard labor at piteous rates. Consequently to have interest rates raised 100 per cent in about six years is something to be applauded.

If I were president of a savings bank that paid around 1½ per cent a year on savings during a period of almost a decade, I would, during 1956, get out some attractive literature to win the attention of that great army of thrifty individuals who scorned saving when money wages were low.

PROMOTION. How would a caption like this sound: Interest rates have doubled within 10 years! It is high time to start saving at today's attractive interest rates!

Likewise, government bonds paying 3 per cent are selling below face value. It is a great time to encourage millions of people who are saving little or nothing to hitch their thrift and savings wagon to a governmental star.

Low money wages, like low labor wages, are indecent. Thrift and saving are entitled to as much consideration in the national economy as are industry and efficiency. It is to be hoped that with basic interest rates at the 3 per cent level, there will be a revival of savings plans in many homes.

I would encourage every reader of these lines, who has a steady job and a savings account to start putting aside a few dollars a week around June first. Then, search out a savings bank paying 3 per cent interest and resolve to make regular and systematic deposits. Such an act will strengthen the individual and the nation.

Will Be on Hand For Murder Trial

Wichita Falls, Tex., May 28 (AP)—A missing witness has notified the sheriff he will be on hand when the Roy Allen Hunter murder trial resumes.

The witness, Herbert R. Kopper of Newburgh, N. Y., got as far as Tulsa, Okla., but was unable to make a plane reservation until morning. He said yesterday.

Defense Atty. Sam B. Spence had said he plans to file a motion for continuance because of the inability to locate Kopper, formerly stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base with Hunter.

Sheriff Weldon Bailey phoned Kopper at his New York home Saturday and said that unless he reported to 30th district court here he would be held in contempt. Kopper had been subpoenaed before his discharge from the base in February.

Hunter is charged with the murder of Jack Spangler, 26, an employee in the Wichita Falls city tax office. Spangler's bullet-ridden body was found on a country road near the base last Dec. 18.

Wagner Receives Report on New Housing Project

New York, May 28 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner and the board of estimate receive a detailed report today on proposed construction of a gleaming city-within-a-city to replace a shabby section of Manhattan's west side.

Robert Moses, chairman of the city committee on slum clearance, will submit the 72-page report. He made it public yesterday.

The 150-million-dollar project calls for demolition of all but a half dozen buildings on 18 city blocks in the Lincoln Square area.

On the cleared area would rise twelve 20-story apartment houses, five theatres, a hotel, a new home for the Metropolitan Opera, shops, and office center, a Manhattan campus for Fordham University and a music and arts center.

The apartments would house more than 5,000 families. The report estimates there are 6,018 families living in the area now. They could be relocated "within a period of three years."

Both the city and federal governments have given preliminary approval to the project. But they must give official approval before work starts.

Moses said land acquisition losses would be shared by the city and federal government under slum clearance laws. Private developers and sponsors would bear construction costs.

Port Jervis Wins First DUSO Track Title in School's History

Red Raiders Score in Twelve of 13 Events; Zwilling KHS Winner

Ulster LL Sets Opener Tonight

New Paltz Teachers Bow to Alumni, 7-4

The DUSO League track and field meet went according to form as highly favored Port Jervis High School won the team title for the first time in history, scoring 84½ points in beating six rival schools, including Kingston, which finished fourth Saturday at the Newburgh Free Academy field.

The well-balanced Red Raiders gleaned points in 12 of 13 events on the program and notched six first places. Jim Malzahn and Joe Regelski paced the victory with double victories. Solo triumphs for Roger Robinson's standard bearers were in the shot put and discus.

Newburgh Free Academy was second with 76 1/6, followed by Middletown 62 5/6, Kingston 28 1/3, Liberty 23, Monticello 21 1/6 and Poughkeepsie 3.

Malzahn completed a double in the 220 and the 100. In the 100, he finished in a dead heat with the Middies, Charlie Springstead in the good time of 10.3. The Port sprint ace snared the 220 in the 24 seconds flat.

Regelski topped the 440 in 52.9 by a couple of yards over Myers. Later he leaped 5 feet, 6 inches to grab the high jump crown.

Burly Vince Pagano won the shot put and finished behind teammate Jerry Sawchuck in the discus. "The Barrel" put the shot 46 feet, 7 3/4 inches and Sawchuck sailed the discus 135 feet, 1 inch to round out the Port firsts.

OTHER individual team winners were: Jim Chick (NFA), mile; Sam Kraemer (Liberty), mile; Al Beccaccio (NFA), broad jump and Monte Decker (Middletown), pole vault.

Newburgh's relay quartet of Paul Benosky, Alan Amos, Pee-wee Taylor and Don Kirkland scored in 47.1. Zwilling, Ed Drake, Dave Shriner and Larry Johnson ran for the locals.

Johnson and Jack Rheinhardt were involved in six-way dead-lock for second in the high jump. Other point-getters for the Maroons were Jack Hermance in the shot and discus, Bob Sembler in the discus and Jim Ploss in the javelin.

Fire in the Well

Landrum, S. C. (AP)—The fire department found that it takes more than water to put out a fire at the bottom of a well. The well, 96 feet deep, was dry and the family of Mrs. Ruth Jones used it for garbage disposal. Someone dumped a mattress into it and then another member of the family threw in ashes from the coal heater. The fire department was called but failed to extinguish the flames with about 250 gallons of water. Finally, a building contractor was sent for and got the blaze out by dumping in six truckloads of sand.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor

Chick Laidlaw and I rode to 35 braces of Brittanys in the Britanny Club of Upper New York's spring trial.

Spring was hardly the word to describe the weather. The ground frosted at night and the wind blew. The sun was seen but rarely and the rain, which threatened continuously and made good its threat occasionally, was punctuated by snow flurries.

To say that we were not cold to the marrow, especially on the day we judged 20 braces, would be putting it mildly, but with it all the trial was a pleasant and a thrilling experience. We dismounted after the last brace to thaw before the fire with a new respect for the little pointing spaniels and what they could do with the help of a good breeding and training program.

WE HAD seen and judged Brittanys before. We were aware that they have excellent noses and are more amenable to training than the more intense pointing dogs.

We had no reason to change our minds about their noses when we saw the bird work at this trial under conditions of wind, wet and cold that would have presented a problem to any dog.

Never before, however, have we seen such evidence that Brittanys as a breed—not just occasional individuals—can get out and go, with an industry and purpose that will take the superior noses into more productive places in the same time.

IF THIS TREND can continue without some unforeseen setback, it won't be long until the foot hunter will be able to get a pointing spaniel that can give him a real thrill while filling his game pocket.

It's true that old pointing dogs will miss the tail, but despite the absence of the caudal appendage some of these rangy little dogs point with lofty style. On the credit side, what a tail adds to style in action it detracts from convenience in the house or car.

Next time, there's a Britanny trial in your vicinity, join the gallery and get out to see the botaits run. (Distributed by NEA Service)

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

Virgil Sasso first tells you that David William Sime will be the first to break 20 seconds in the 220-yard dash.

Off what 19-year-old Dave Sime has so quickly accomplished, that doesn't exactly floor anyone slightly acquainted with the youngster's meteoric rise, but Sasso's next prediction has to put you down for a short count.

"David," says Sasso, athletic director and baseball coach of Fair Lawn, N. J., High, "has a fine chance to make you forget all the baseball players you have ever seen. He can play any position but belongs in center field."

Sime—rhymes with Jim—did not compete in track in high school, had no formal coaching. It is not true, however, that he did not put on a pair of spiked shoes until he matriculated at Duke University.

SASSO RECALLS SIME visiting Auburn in the fall of his senior year to look into a football scholarship.

"The sprint champion of the Southeastern Conference happened to be warming up," he recalls, "and David, in sweat clothes, beat him in the 100. Wilbur Hutsell, the track coach, offered David a track scholarship, told him he would be in the 1956 Olympic Games."

"After the baseball season the next spring, David competed in two New Jersey meets, beating Aubrey Lewis, now of Notre Dame, in one."

Graybearded followers of the scintillates can't recall a sprinter who leaped into renown as rapidly and with as little tutoring and experience as Sime. The newest fastest human went to Duke on a baseball scholarship, went out for track "to improve my starts in baseball." In his first outdoor freshman meet, he negotiated the 100 in 9.7, the 220 in 21.1. In the next meet, one watch caught him at 9.5 in the 100.

SIME MORE RECENTLY established two new world records within six days with 20.1 for the furlong and 22.2 in the low hurdles, snipping one-tenth of a second from the marks which were held by Mel Patton and Harrison Dillard, respectively. He has run the 100 in 9.4 six times, repelling in one of them the previously unbeaten Bobby Marlow, the National Amateur Athletic Union titleholder.

After shaving the 220 mark, Sime telephoned his mother. "You know, mom, I broke the world record," he reported. "There was no body in back of me or I would have run it faster." He prevailed by 20 yards. That's why Sasso believes he'll do 19.9.

Making Sime all the more extraordinary as a sprinter is his size, 6-2 and 185 pounds.

SIME, A HANDSOME kid, is patterning his career after that of Bobby Brown, who studied medicine while playing third base for the Yankees. He batted .432 as a Duke freshman, forego baseball this spring to concentrate on track and the Olympic Games.

"David has a natural power swing and a strong and accurate arm," testifies Athletic Director Sasso. "And he could be a switch hitter like Mickey Mantle. There is a center field fence at the Fair Lawn High field, 330 feet from the plate. In one practice session, he hit five balls a mile over it batting right-handed and five more left-handed."

"Scouts were on David's trail as a high school junior. He had six bonus offers as a senior."

"He'll get a lot of money for signing, and remember what I'm telling you."

"David will out-Mickey Mantle."

That's a heady statement, but Virgil Sasso is talking about a lot of athlete.

Records Topple In Schenectady Track Carnival

Schenectady, May 28 (AP)—Five records of the Schenectady Inter-scholastic Sports Carnival fell at the 16th annual meet this year.

Curtis Brown of Stonington High School, Pawtucket, Conn., threw the discus 163 feet, 8 1/2 inches, topping by nearly 10 feet the previous records set in 1951. Dick Edmunds of Glens Falls won the 440 in 49.4 seconds. The old mark of 50.6 was set a year ago.

RAY LOCKE JR., of Barrington High School, R. I., won the shotput event with 58 feet, 5 inches. He broke the earlier record of 57 feet 1 1/4 inches set in 1951.

Ted Fuller of Andrew Jackson High School, St. Albans, N. Y., finished the 120-yard high hurdles race in 15.2 seconds, shaving three seconds off the earlier record of last year.

Wayne Smealie of Scotia, N. Y., ran the 880 in 2:00.2, compared with the 2:02 record set in 1955.

Approximately 700 boys from 36 high schools participated in the Saturday meet. Andrew Jackson High won the Class A team title, Stonington High of

Sanders First U. S. Casualty in British Amateur

Troon, Scotland, May 28 (AP)—Joe B. Golden of Austin, Texas, led a big American delegation in to the second round of the British Amateur golf championships today when he defeated Dr. T. A. White of Edinburgh, 9 and 8, in a first round match.

Golden, a finalist in the Egyptian Amateur last March, won the first eight holes before the Edinburgh physician managed to get a half at the ninth and carry the match beyond the minimum distance.

Merlin Robertson of Pasadena, Calif., also reached the second round when his opponent, J. W. Jones of England, scratched. Earlier scratches had sent Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., former U. S. Public Links champion, and Clarke Hardwick of Los Angeles into the second round and Edwin C. Vane of Philadelphia into the third. Vane had drawn a first round bye.

IDEAL SUMMER weather prevailed as play got under way. A bright sun beat down on the rugged, baked-out Troon championship links and not a whisper of breeze was detected.

The tournament's first big upset saw Robin Catter, British Walker Cup player from Scotland, beaten by D. A. Proctor of South Africa, 4 and 3.

Frank Strafaci, 40-year-old New Yorker who is making his seventh bid for the British Amateur title, squeaked through to a one-up victory over J. K. Tate of England after a narrow escape on the 18th hole.

They were all square coming to the 18th after a rugged, seesaw match. Strafaci's second shot went through the green onto a gravel path in front of the clubhouse. A local rule cost him a penalty stroke to lift the ball. Strafaci then chipped on and knocked in a 10-foot putt for a bogey five.

Tate was on in three after bunker trouble on his tee shot. He three-putted to take a six and lose the match.

DOUG SANDERS of Cedar-town, Ga., and Miami, Fla., rated as one of America's top young players, was the major casualty of the first round when he lost to David Mackie, 22-year-old Scottish civil engineer, 2 and 1.

Sanders, the 1951 U. S. "Jays" Junior champion and 1955 Tam O'Shanter "world" amateur winner, was playing for the first time in a British tournament. He lost out on the 16th and 17th holes after the match was even through 15.

Binghamton, N. Y., is a member of the New York Yankee baseball system. Yankees Whitey Ford, Bob Grim, Bill Skowron, Tom Morgan, Rip Coleman and Jerry Coleman played there.

2 Late Inning Uprisings Win

Two late inning rallies carried the Alumni to a 7-4 comeback victory over New Paltz Teachers College Saturday at the Paltz diamond.

Trailing 4-1, the graduates knotted the score in the eighth and then shoved over another three runs in the ninth to clinch the decision and send the Hawks down to their seventh loss.

Three hits sandwiched between two errors got the winning runs over against George Guilianni, the fourth Paltz pitcher. Alan Levine then came in to still the grads.

A BASE clearing triple by second baseman Graves tied up the game the inning before, after Bill Moslander had loaded the bases with walks.

Frank Buckley started for the victims and went five innings plus. Following him to the mound was Ang Di Perna and then Moslander. Guilianni came in to relieve after the triple.

All the New Paltz runs were unearned and resulted from errors. It scored three times in first to gain the lead and one in the fifth off Randy Siegel, who traveled the route and limited the Hawks to only three hits.

Cornell Crew Goes After IRA

Ithaca, May 28 (AP)—The Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. meet June 16 is next in sight for Cornell's champion varsity crew, victors by two and a half lengths over Penn Saturday.

Then comes the Olympic trials June 28-30. Both events are to be in Syracuse.

THE VETERAN Cornell squad—with seven of the eight men who won the IRA last year—was timed in 11:45 to the Quakers' 11:54 in Saturday's race on Cayuga Lake.

Cornell's junior varsity suffered its first defeat in nearly two years when Penn's second boat won by three feet. The Penn freshmen won by a length and a half.

In the JV lightweight event, the Cornell crew set a new Cayuga inlet record for the Henley distance of 1 5/16 miles. The time was 6:34.8, two-tenths of a second better than the previous record set by Cornell's varsity against Penn in 1954.

St. Mary's of Kingston Cops Father Herdegen Track Crown

Scores 69 Points In Defeating Five Area Parishes Two Records Broken In Shot, High Jump

St. Mary's of Kingston won the annual Father Herdegen Memorial track and field meet championship, in a two-team fight over St. Joseph's Saturday afternoon at Dietz Stadium. St. Mary's compiled 69 points and the runnerup 64.

St. Mary's of Saugerties took third place with 39, followed by St. Peter's of Kingston 37, St. Peter's of Rosendale 21 and Immaculate Conception 11.

The coveted Father Herdegen trophy was presented to Bill Dederick, captain of St. Mary's, by James Geary, chairman of St. Mary's CYO committee. Gold, silver and bronze medals went to first, second and third place finishers.

MORE THAN 400 persons attended the meet which is held in honor of the late Rev. Henry E. Herdegen, first CYO moderator of Ulster county. It was run in three classes: Class 'A', boys under 80 pounds; Class 'B', boys under 100 pounds and Class 'C', boys more than 100 pounds.

Two county CYO meet records were smashed during the afternoon. Bob Whittaker set a new shot put mark of 41 feet, 10 inches in Class C for St. Mary's of Saugerties. A. Giannotti of the defending champion Saugerties team established the other standard in the high jump, soaring 5 feet, 2 inches.

Bill Mahoney was chairman of the meet which was the longest in history lasting more than four hours.

Don Van Wagenen unfurled a 1-hitter and was aided by a freak triple play to register a 11-0 shutout for St. Joseph's against the Immaculate Conception in the CYO Baseball League opener.

The lone hit off Van Wagenen was a single by A. Secreto. The St. Joseph's twirler struck out nine and walked two.

ST. JOSEPH'S collected nine hits off Ralph Fuoco, including doubles by Van Wagenen, Kieffer and Rua. Rua also had a single.

The freak triple killing occurred in the top of the fifth when the first two Immaculate batters walked. With a double steal on the next batter struck out and the two base runners were snuffed out.

St. Joseph's Capture Opener From Immaculate Nine, 11-0
Don Van Wagenen unfurled a 1-hitter and was aided by a freak triple play to register a 11-0 shutout for St. Joseph's against the Immaculate Conception in the CYO Baseball League opener.

The lone hit off Van Wagenen was a single by A. Secreto. The St. Joseph's twirler struck out nine and walked two.

ST. JOSEPH'S collected nine hits off Ralph Fuoco, including doubles by Van Wagenen, Kieffer and Rua. Rua also had a single.

The freak triple killing occurred in the top of the fifth when the first two Immaculate batters walked. With a double steal on the next batter struck out and the two base runners were snuffed out.

The Weather

MONDAY, MAY 28, 1956
Sun rises at 4:25 a. m.; sun sets at 7:22 p. m. EST.
Weather, cloudy.

The Temperature
The lowest temperature on the Freeman thermometer during the night was 56 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 62 degrees.

Weather Forecast
NEW YORK CITY and vicinity: Mostly sunny this afternoon with temperatures rising to near 70s inland. Fair, cooler to-night, lowest in the 40s. Clouding up Tuesday afternoon with highest temperatures only in the 60s. Fresh, occasionally strong northwesterly winds this afternoon becoming moderate northerly tonight, veering to southeasterly and increasing to fresh on Tuesday.

Outlooks—Chance of some rain moving in Tuesday night or Wednesday with little change in temperature. Thursday mostly fair and cool. Temperature Tuesday 6 a. m. about 48.

PARTLY CLOUDY
EASTERN New York: Partly cloudy and cool this afternoon, highest temperature in the 50s in north and west to around 60s in south and southeast. Fair and cooler tonight, lowest temperature in upper 30s in extreme north to 40s more generally. Tuesday increasing cloudiness followed by showers in afternoon or at night. Highest temperature in 60s to lower 70s.

Defeated in Election

Raleigh, N. C., May 28—Two North Carolina congressmen who didn't sign the southern manifesto against school desegregation have been defeated for re-election. However, Rep. Harold D. Cooley, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, the third North Carolina representative who did not sign the manifesto, won a new term in the 4th District over W. E. DeBham, Raleigh radio commentator who made segregation the keystone of his campaign. Cooley was the only one of the three non-signers who made it clear during the campaign that he opposed mixing of the races.
